Sensational Shooting Affray at Colyer, Centre County—Husband Seeks Revenge On His Successor in His Wife's Affections.

OTHER ITEMS OF INTEREST

This mornings Altoona Times contains a dispatch dated Pittsburg in regard to the forming of a lime trust. McCalmont & Co., of this place, are not in this combination as far as we could learn.

PITTSBURG, Nov. 20.—The American Lime and Stone company, incorporated some time ago at Harrisburg by dealers in limestone, in which Pittsburgers figure largely, has concluded the big deal which gives it the practical control of the limestone interests in central Pennsylvania. The company will begin business with a working capital of $1,500,000, paid up by the properties taken into the combination.

As far as the present plans go the company will absorb the interests of A. A. Stevens, of Tyrone; A. G. Morris & Co., and the J. King McLanahan interests in Huntingdon, Blair and Centre counties.

The formal meeting of the company will be held in this city in the near future and the directing officers chosen. The probable president will be A. J. Morris, of this city, with A. A. Stevens general manager.

The American Trust company of this city has taken up the entire bond issue of the new combine and will finance it to a working basis.

A SHOOTING AFFRAY AT COLYER.

Word reached here Tuesday by telephone from Colyer, Centre county, in regard to a sensational shooting affray which occurred there Saturday night. The facts are about as follows: Mr. and Mrs. John Long, of Colyer, through some misunderstanding had come to regard marriage as a failure and for some little time past have been living apart. In the meantime, Mrs. Long has been receiving marked attention from William Mulbarger, a widower past 50 years of age and a highly respected citizen of Lemont, Centre county. Hearing of this fact the demon of jealousy was aroused in the breast of Long, who made threats on several occasions to kill both his wife and Mulbarger.

On Saturday evening Mulbarger went to Colyer and called on Mrs. Long. Hearing that they were together Mr. Long went to the house armed with a club and a revolver. Finding the two together he paid no attention to his wife but proceeded to attack Mulbarger beating him severely with his club. He then shot at Mulbarger three times, only one shot taking effect.

Mulbarger was taken to the home of Henry Stoner nearby where his wounds were treated. We could not learn how serious his injuries were.

No arrest has yet been made.

Deer Jumped Over a Moving Train.

A report comes from Monument, that on Saturday evening while the fire clay miners were on the clay train returning from their work in the mines, a deer came bounding down over the side of the mountain and leaped over the moving train. The deer made the jump successfully, but one of the miners had his gun with him and as soon as the deer landed on the ground a bullet from the gun killed the frightened animal.

The train was stopped and the deer, which weighed 125 pounds, was taken to Monument and afterwards sent to Lock Haven.

—If the proposition made by a committee of 100 citizens to the finance committee of the recent national Grand Army encampment is carried out, a surplus of $8,000 collected for that occasion will be used to erect a bronze statue of heroic size to the late President McKinley in the public square, the centre of the business portion of Cleveland, Ohio. Thus far the matter has received the endorsement of most of the men connected with the Grand Army encampment, and there is little doubt of the memorial soon becoming a reality.

CHICAGO has a gilt edged Bible class. It is composed entirely of women whose aggregate wealth is approximated at $50,000,000, It is needless to say that the class is abundantly provided with the means to make the road to spiritual knowledge a pathway of material comfort and ease.

THE LUTHERAN SYNOD,

Which Held its Annual Meeting at Pleasant Gap This Week.

The Northern Conference of the Evangelical Lutheran Synod of Central Pennsylvania met at Pleasant Gap, Centre county, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of this week. The sessions were well attended and proved quite interesting. The general topic for discussion was "The Third Article of the Apostles Creed." Monday evening the synod opened in the Lutheran church with the communion sermon by Rev. C. D. Russel.

Tuesday morning there was a prayer service led by Rev. R. W. Mottern, followed by a short business session. From 10 to 10:45 a. m., there was a discussion on—Augsburg Confession—Article II, of Original Sin, by Rev, H. C. Holloway, D. D., of Bellefonte. Next was a discussion of "The Holy Ghost" by Rev. J. M Rearick.

Tuesday afternoon's synod opened at 2 o'clock with a half hours business session followed by a discussion on "The Christian Church" by Rev. J. A. Earnest, D. D. The closing subject discussed was "The Communion of Saints" by Rev. J. T. Aikens, of Pine Grove Mills.

Tuesday evening at 7:30 Rev. C. L. McConnell delivered an eloquent sermon—Theme, The Mission of the Church.

Wednesday morning the service opened at 8:30 with a devotional service and Prayer for Missions led by a layman. The next hour was devoted to business and then there was a three quarters of an hour discussion of the subject "The Forgiveness of Sins" by Rev. F. Aurand. "The Resurrection of the Body" was next talked upon by Rev. R. W. Mottern.

Wednesday afternoon was devoted to the children there being a discourse on "Our Duty to Children" by Rev. D. E. Repley. In closing there was a childrens service at which addresses were delivered by Rev. J. I. Stoeecypher, Rev. W. M. Rearich and Rev. C. D. Russel.

Wednesday evening the Synod was brought to a close with a sermon at 7:30 by Rev. J. M. Rearick. Theme, Everlasting Life.

The P. R. R. Plan.

From the Greensburg Tribune.

Robert Pitcairn, general agent and superintendent of the Pittsburg division of the Pennsylvania railroad, will need to revise his personal schedule to be on time if he means to keep up his present speed. Sunday he is found informing the railroad branch of the Young Men's Christian association that the board of directors has set aside $35,000 for their work. Monday he jumped over to Altoona and scatsers checks and watches to employes in token of their courage, devotion and high sense of duty. To-day where is he? The day is yet young and the shades of night will surely not settle without his special stopping to do something for the great army of employes under him. Whether chronicled or not, the good work is going on daily. Mr. Pitcairn studiously states in each case that the board of directors has ordered thus and so, but back of his modesty stands the fact that these actions result from his recommendations. It is perfectly patent that what he says "goes" down east. It is such things as these that result in the wonderful esprit de corps of the Pennsylvania system and the great Pittsburg division particularly. It is such readiness to appreciate and reward that has made Mr. Pitcairn the biggest railroad man in the greatest railroad centre in the country and made the efficiency of the Pittsburg division the standard for the system.

Pennsylvania Railroad's Winter Excursion Route Book.

In pursuance of its annual custom, the Passenger Department of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company has just issued an attractive and comprehensive book descriptive of the leading Winter resorts of the East and South, and giving the rates and various routes and combinations of routes of travel. Like all the publications of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, this "Winter Excursion Book" is a model of typographical and clerical work. It is bound in a handsome and artistic cover in colors, and contains much valuable information for Winter tourists and travelers in general. It can be had free of charge at the principal ticket offices of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, or will be sent postpaid upon application to Geo. W. Boyd, Assistant General Passenger Agent, Broad Street Station, Philadelphia.

LAWYER SEMPLE ON TRIAL.

Another Echo of a Revenue Stamp Counterfeiting Conspiracy.

PHILADELPHIA'S FAMOUS CASE

He Pleaded Not Guilty When Arraigned. Ringleaders are Serving Twelve Years' Sentences in the Eastern Penitentiary.

WHAT THE GOVERNMENT WILL PROVE

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 19.—John L. Semple, a lawyer of Camden, N. J., was placed on trial yesterday in the United States district court, before Judge McPherson, charged with aiding and abetting Arthur Taylor and Baldwin S. Bredell in making, issuing and attempting to circulate counterfeit $20 notes. Semple is the thirteenth man to be arrested in connection with the celebrated Lancaster, Pa., revenue stamp counterfeiting conspiracy conceived by Jacobs & Kendig, cigar manufacturers of that city, in 1897. Nine men have gone to the penitentiary for their part in the crime and three others are in the county prison awaiting sentence.

The government is represented by United States District Attorney Holland, who will be aided by Assistant United States Attorney General James M. Beck The latter prosecuted the cases against the other conspirators.

Semple pleaded not guilty. After the jury had been selected and United States District Attorney Holland had made his opening address the court took a recess.

In his address District Attorney Holland told how Taylor and Bredel in their prison cell, under the direction of Lawyer Semple,had secured a small press, having it made at Snow Hill; how three plates and an engraving tool had been purchased for them in New York in December, 1899; how they made the plates in their cell, working at night, by the light of an oil lamp; how the counterfeits were shown to Semple and approved by him, and finally how they were put in circulation by Harry Taylor, a brother of Arthur. The district attorney said he would prove all this and in addition show that Semple had secured the 150 new one dollar silver certificates and had given them to Bredell and Taylor who washed them and impressed them with the twenty dollar plates.

The principal witness at the afternoon session was Taylor, who explained in every detail how they carried on their counterfeiting work in jail. He told how he and Bredell had constructed a hood out of blankets so that the keepers could not see the light of their lamp as they worked at night. He told of how they secured the tools and said that they usually did the work at night they would conceal their tools in a valise and the engraved plate in a magazine. The valise and magazine had not been inspected by the keeper or prison inspectors in six months.

The court adjourned at 6 o'clock until this morning.

In 1898 a perfect counterfeit of the Monroe head $100 note was discoved to be in circulation and the treasury department re-called that series. A year later secret service operatives arrested Taylor and Bredell, who confessed to having engraved the plates. Through their apprehension the plot to counterfeit internal revenue stamps was discovered and the arrest and conviction of Jacobs and Kendig followed. Then came numerous other arrests, including those of Ellery P. Ingham, former United States district attorney and his law partner, former Assistant United States District Attorney Harvey K. Newitt, who were convicted of attempting to bribe Secret Service Operative McManus, since deceased, but at that time in charge of the local secret service office. Jacobs and Kendig are serving a twelve years' sentence and Ingham and Newitt were sentenced to two years' and six months.

Taylor and Bredell, after their confession, were never tried, but engaged Lawyer Semple as their counsel. On May 17 of the present year Semple was arrested and the charge was made against him of having aided Taylor and Bredell in the manufacture of the $20 note plates in the ounty prison.

A QUIET BUT PRETTY WEDDING

Two Prominent Young People of Milesburg Married.

On Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock a very pretty wedding was solemnized at the Presbyterian parsonage at Milesburg.

The contracting parties were Mr. James G. Wallace youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wallace and Miss Rose Proudfoot daughter of Mrs. Nancy Proudfoot of that place. It was a very quiet affair only the immediate friends of the two young people being present.

The ring ceremony was used and was performed by Rev. Walter B. Carson pastor of the Presbyterian church of that place, after which they repaired to the brides home where a sumptuous wedding supper was served.

Mr. Wallace is one of Milesburgs most prominent young men and is held in the very highest esteem by his many friends. He is one of his fathers right hand men in the many large buildings he has been putting up.

Miss Proudfoot is a very amiable and accomplished young lady and will certainly be a good helpmate through life. This paper extends to these young people its heartiest congratulations and wishes them abundant success and happiness through life.

Extended Telephone Tolls.

The toll to subscribers of the Commercial Telephone company to points reached by the United Telephone and Telegraph lines, with which company the Commercial united a few days ago at Jersey Shore, is one half cent per word per mile air line. Subscribers can now talk to Jersey Shore, Newberry, Williamsport, Muncy, Watsontown and Sunbury. The Commercial and the United company now have an extensive and valuable system, covering every town of importance in Central and western Pennsylvania.

"Down and Up."

There is said to be more fun to the square inch in "Down and Up" that comes to the opera house next Friday night than any play that has been here this season. It introduces the four popular comedians, George, Paul, Harry and Guy Hickman. This company was in Johnsonburg last Thursday night and the Press says those who witnessed it pronounced it the most laughable farce comedy ever seen in Johsonburg.

Blew His Head Off.

While despondent over imaginary business troubles, Charles Felix, of Shamokin, aged 46 years, committed suicide by shooting himself Tuesday morning in his tin shop. He placed the stock of the gun between his feet and the muzzle in his mouth. With one foot and a string he pulled the trigger and blew the top of his head off.

Tied Prisoner to a Tree.

For throwing a stone through a window of T. B. Yerg's store at Washingtonville, and badly injuring the Rev. J. E. Ott, Edward Johnson was arrested Monday. Having no lockup in which to put his prisoner, Constable Lucas was advised to tie him to a tree, which he did. Later a settlement was effected.

MENTALLY UNBALANCED!

That Likely to Be the Plea Made for an Alleged Forger.

IN NEW YORK COURT SATURDAY

Had the Air of a Prosperous Business Man, but Was Very Nervous and Was Sent Back for Medical Treatment.

CHICAGO END OF THE STORY

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—O. B. Wheeler, Jr., who was arrested Saturday on charges of forging the names of Chicago business men to notes aggregating $103,000, was arraigned in police court yesterday. An attorney who appeared for him told the magistrate that his client was, in his opinion, suffering from the excessive use of some drug and that he was now mentally unbalanced.

Wheeler had the air of a prosperous business man. He is small of statue, quite bald and wears a beard. While waiting to be arraigned he walked nervously about the court room. His hands and head shook perceptibly and when before the bar he had to hold on the railing to steady himself. The attorney called the attention of the court to Wheeler's condition and requested that he be sent to the Bellevue hospital, where he could be under the care of his private physician. He further said that for a month past Wheeler had been constantly attended by a private nurse, who knew much about the alleged attempts on his part to raise money on the notes.

Magistrate Cornell said that he felt sorry for the prisoner and thought that he was in need of medical care, and on the statement of the detective that he could be attended to by his doctor at police headquarters, he sent him back there.

Sergeant Price said that the Chicago police had been communicated with and that Mr. Purrington was now on his way east and would be on hand at the court on Tuesday to tell what he knew of the case. Dr. Ward will also be on hand, according to counsel, and state to the court that, in his opinion, Wheeler is mentally unbalanced and not responsible for his actions.

CHICAGO, Nov. 18.—When the alleged forged notes signed by Potter Palmer, P. V. Purrington and other Chicago capitalists, in connection with which the New York police have arrested a man named Wheeler were offered for sale, the Metropolitan National bank of this city offered to purchase all the paper. The liberal discount offered did not excite suspicion, particularly as Palmer and Purrington have not been borrowers, and consequently might not obtain as liberal terms as regular customers. The Purrington paper was offered to a local capitalist before the bank had agreed to buy it. This capitalist knew Mr. Parrington well and chanced to meet him on the street a few hours after talking with the brokers.

"I have been offered some of your personal paper and some issued by your brick company," the capitalist remarked.

"What do you mean?" Mr. Purrington asked.

The capitalist explained.

"I have no notes out and neither has the company," said Mr. Purrington. In fact, we have $40,000 in the bank drawing 2½ per cent. interest, and we would not be so foolish as to put out paper calling for 5 per cent." Mr. Purrington went at once to the brokers and there learned of the $125,000 in notes offered for sale through the New York house. He at once denounced the notes as forgeries. One of the members of the Chicago brokerage firm, which was planning to handle the paper said that he did not believe there was any such man as Duffy.

Improvements at Burnham.

A new open hearth building and an extension for the axle plant at Burnham, near Lewistown, are in the course of erection. The new open hearth will be a fifty ton Wellman rolling furnace, with the latest improved gas producers and all the latest devices and attachments to the monster big furnace. There will be two fifteen ton electric cranes, one running over the top of the other, so it will be almost impossible for accidents or mishaps to occur in this department. The new extension to the axle plant will be a building two hundred feet long equipped with four furnaces for heating purposes, with boilers erected above each furnace to supply steam to operate the hammers, and will give employment to one hundred or more men in this department alone.

HE'S AFTER THEM.

Pure Food Inspector Foust Continues to Make Informations.

As the result of certain investigations set on foot by the pure food department, under the immediate supervision of Pure Food Inspector Foust, of Altoona, information was made before Justice Gallagher, of Osceola on Wednesday last, against George Richards and Howard Richards, of Philipsburg, charged with selling oleomargarine without license, not stamped and containing coloring matter. This will probably put an end to some persistent violations of the pure food law.

Having discovered that somebody was selling oleomargarine in the mining towns in Clearfield county and elsewhere within a radius of fifteen or twenty miles of Philipsburg, Inspector Foust set to work to discover the identity of the persons who were defying the law. It was finally discovered that George Richards and his son Howard were in the habit of receipting for packages addressed to fictitious names and on last Saturday morning at Hawk Run Inspector Foust met the younger Richards and searched his wagon obtaining a pound roll of allege butter, for which he paid him 28 cents. This was sent to Professor William Frear, at State College, and by him analyzed. A warrent was issued for the arrest of the two Richards and yesterday they gave bail for their appearance to answer.

Penalty for Holding Mail.

In the case of Cohen vs. Cohen recently decided by the Texas Court of Civil Appeals, one Cohen took from the office at San Antonio a letter addressed to "A. Cohen," referring to the sale of certain real estate at Houston. He had no real estate there, but kept the letter for several days, and finally returned it to the post office.

It was subsequently delivered to the appellee, but by reason of the delay he lost the sale. The appellee thereupon brought suit against the appellant for damages and the Court of Civil Appeals, affirming the decision of the court below, gave judgment for the appellee, on the ground that under section 3,892 of the revised statutes of the United States the appellant owed a duty to the appellee not to obstruct the mail, and that by failing promptly to return the letter he had violated that and was liable for the damages approximately resulting therefrom.

Organizing for Missionary Work.

The delegates appointed to reorganize the Women's Missionary society of West Susquehanna classis met in convention in Trinity Reformed church, Centre Hall, on the 7th and 8th inst., and effected an organization by the election of the following officers: President, Mrs. H. I. Crowe, Hublersburg; vice president, Miss Jennie Henning, Lewisburg; recording secretary, Miss Agnes Kryder, Salona; treasurer, Miss Eva Meyer, Centre Mills. The reports of the delegates were encouraging and showed a spirit of awakening in the cause of missions. A constitution was adopted and resolutions were also adopted recommending the organization of congregational societies at all the charges of West Susquehanna classis. Among the delegates present were Misses Ellen Kryder, Linnie Kryder, Alice Meyer and Mrs. Will Knecht, Mt. Bethel; Misse Agnes Kryder and Leah Best, Salona.

Hog Cholera Raging.

Sugar Valley Journal: Cholera in all its severity and fatal result is attacking the fattening hogs in Greene township. Upwards of 100 porkers have already died and many more are sick. A partial list of the losses to date is as follows: John Augustine, 13; John Esterline, 11; Fred Womeldorf, 8, Jefferson Eckle, 6; Albert Schrader, 7; A. J. Mark, 3; Samuel Frankenberger, 11; Mrs. Troutner, 1; John Mizener, 4; Mrs. D. L. Stamm, 1. Noah Cramer, 10; Frank Miller, 1; and others.

Every means has been tried to check the ravages of the disease, but to no success.

Thomas—Mills.

Mr. Henry Thomas and Miss Carrie Mills were united in marriage Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the home of the brides father, Mr. William Mills on South Thomas street. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. G. Askew, pastor of the A. M. E. church, in the presence of about thirty guests. Many beautiful wedding presents were received which attests to the popularity of the young people.

The groom is the son of Gowen Thomas and is in the employ of Potter & Hoy.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas took the evening train for a wedding tour to Harrisburg and Philadelphia.

Bachelor McKeage Still Looking for a Wife.

A special from Jersey Shore to the Philadelphia North American, under date of 13th inst., says: After trying for six months to secure a wife, James McKeage, the good looking and well-to-do farmer of Rauchtown, has had a new photograph taken and has sent out a frantic appeal to the unmarried women of the United States. If this does not bring him the wife he desires, he will retire to bachelorhood for the rest of his days.

He is hard to please, because girls a plenty have offered themselves to him. But they always lack either good looks or domestic accomplishments.

Thursday he drove a pair of spanknig grays, hitched to a pretty runabout, to Antes Fort, the nearest railroad station, to meet a particularly good looking girl from Pittsburg, but she failed to appear. "I am greatly disappointed," he said, when the train pulled out without leaving the girl. "Here was a girl all the way from Oklahoma Territory who was dead anxious to come here today, and I was obliged to turn her down for this Pittsburg girl, who was the better looking. If she comes on a later train she'll have to walk to Rauchtown (six miles), because I haven't time to meet all the trains."

Longacre—Gould.

A very pretty wedding event was celebrated Thursday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Gould, of Lock Haven. The occasion was the marriage of their daughter Caroline, to Mr. Charles Longacre, formerly of this place, but now of Niagara Falls. There were about thirty guests present when the bridal couple entered the parlor, promptly at the appointed hour, eight o'clock, and took their positions in front of a large bank of palms and ferns. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. E. Wright, formerly pastor of the Great Island Presbyterian church but now of Philadelphia.

The bride was attired in white Persian lawn trimmed in lace and panne velvet.

The ushers were Clarence Longacre, of Bellefonte, and H. L. Gould, of Lock Haven. The ceremony being over congratulations were extended and then all sat down to a sumptuous wedding supper.

Later in the evening Mr. and Mrs. Longacre took the train for their future home at Niagara Falls where the groom is employed in a large department store.

School Teachers May Flog.

Schuykill county grand jury in session at Pottsville this week agrees with Deputy State Superintendent Henry Houck that school teachers should use the rod upon disobedient pupils. Suit was brought by Mrs. John Henning and Mrs. Frank Fritz, of Barnesville, against George W. Teter, teacher of a public school in that place, for flogging children of theirs. Monday the grand jury ignored the bill and placed the cost on the parents, the prosecutors. Photographs of the marks inflicted upon the pupils' legs were shown the grand jury, but these silent witnesses did not influence the jury to return a true bill.

Modern Surgery Surpassed.

"While suffering from a bad case of piles I consulted a physician who advised me to try a box of DeWitt's Witch Haze Salve," says G. F. Carter, Atlanta, Ga. "I procured a box and was entirely cured. DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve is a splendid cure for piles, giving relief instantly, and I heartily recommend it to all sufferers." Surgery is unnecessary to cure piles. DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve will cure any case. Cuts, burns, bruises and all other wounds are also quickly cured by it. Beware of counterfeits. C. M. Parrish.

Small Yield of Corn Reported.

The Present Indicated Crop of Potatoes Shows the Lowest Average Per Acre Since 1890—The Preliminary Estimate of the Yield Per Acre of Hay is 1.32 Tons—Tobacco in Excess of Ten Year Average.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—The following report was issued this afternoon by the department of agriculture:

The preliminary estimate of the average yield per acre of corn, as published in the monthly report of the statistician of the department of agriculture, is 16.4 bushels as compared with an average yield of 25 3 bushels per acre in 1900 and 1899 and a ten year average of 244 bushels. The present indicated yield per acre is the lowest general average ever recorded for this crop, being 22 bushels per acre below the yield in 1881, which has stood for twenty years as the lowest on record. The indicated yield in bushels per acre in the seven principal states is as follows:

Ohio, 261; Indiana, 198; Illinois, 214; Iowa, 25; Missouri, 101; Kansas, 78, and Nebraska, 141. Of the twenty-three states having 1,000,000 acres or upland in corn, all but Pennsylvania, Virginia and Michigan report an average yield per acre below their respective ten-year average.

AVERAGE AS TO QUALITY, 73.7.

The general average as to quality is 73.7 per cent. In November, 1899. It is estimated that 4.5 per cent. of the corn crop of 1900 was still in the hands of farmers on Nov. 1st 1901, as compared with 4.4 per cent. of the crop of 1899 in farmers' hands on Nov. 1st, 1900, and 5.9 per cent. of that of 1898 in hand Nov. 1st, 1899.

The preliminary estimate of the average yield per acre of buckwheat is 189 bushels, as against an average yield per acre of 12 bushels in 1900 and a ten year average of 199 bushels. Of the six states having 10,000 acres or upward, under this product, including New York and Pennsylvania, which together contain over three fourths of the entire buckwheat acreage of the country, four report a yield per acre in excess of their respective ten year averages. The general average as to quality is 93.3 per cent. against 90.2 per cent. in November, last, and 86.4 per cent. in November, 1899.

YIELD OF POTATOES.

The preliminary estimate of the yield per acre of potatoes is 59.9 bushels against an average yield per acre of 80.8 bushels in 1900, 88.6 bushels in 1899 and a ten year average of 78.7 bushels. The present indicated yield per acre is the lowest since 1890. Of the states having 50,000 acres or upward in potatoes, all except Michigan and Maine report a yield per acre comparing unfavorably with their ten year averages. Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, Kansas and Nebraska report less than one-half and Missouri less than one-fourth of an average crop. The average as to quality is 78.4 per cent. as compared with 88.1 in November last and 91.4 in November, 1899.

YIELD OF HAY.

The preliminary estimate of the yield per acre of hay is 132 tons, against an average yield of 128 tons in 1900. 134 tons in 1899 and a ten year average of 128 tons. While more than three-fourths of the forty-seven States and territories for which comparative data are available yield a report yer acre in excess of their respective ten year averages, such important States as Illinois, Iowa, Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska South Dakota, Texas and Arkansas are all included in the region reported less favorable. The average as to quality is 9.13 per cent. against 89.7 per cent. in November last and 93.8 per cent. in November 1899.

Of the fifteen principal tobacco States, nine, including Kentucky, Virginia, North Carolina and Tennessee, report an average yield per acre of tobacco in excess of their ten year averages, while six, including Ohio, Wisconsin and Missouri, fall below such averages.

The apple crop is considerably below the the ten year average, the pare and grape crops are slightly below the sweet potato crop is slightly above.

BEDFELLOWSHIP.

The Time When Girls Exchange Confidences.

After the prolonged separation of a year when girl school chums meet again, they are apt to put off all conversation of intimate and private matters until bed-time. Then reviving dormitory days of old they open their hearts and tell the secrets accumulated in twelve long months. And some of these confidences are very sad. It is sad when the girl who was a crack at tennis, could pull an oar and swing a golf club has to admit that she has given up all those things because her back aches so incessantly. The pity is that such break-downs are so common among young women. They will continue to be common and to increase in frequency until the girl is taught that the stability of the general health is founded on the local womanly health.

A WOMAN'S WEAKNESS

may be gaged by her womanly health. "Female Weakness" is not a scientific term, but it is a popular term, expressing the result rather than the condition of womanly disease. Weakness must inevitably follow disease of the delicate womanly organs. Irregularity is often the beginning of more serious ailments. Drains that are at first considered chiefly as disagreeable, will in the end drain away the vigor and vitality of women. The prompt use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription would save many a woman from years of weakness and suffering. It establishes regularity, dries weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness. It makes weak women strong and sick women well.

There is no other put-up medicine for woman's peculiar ills, purchasable from dealers which has so remarkable a record of cures as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. When physicians have said no cure was possible; when all other means and medicines have utterly failed to benefit "Favorite Prescription" has been tried and its use has resulted in a perfect and permanent cure.

"Your letter just received," writes Miss Rose Kilfether, of 43 West Sharpnack St., Germantown, Philadelphia, Pa. "Words fail to express how thankful I am to you for your advice. I must confess that for the length of time I have been using your medicine I have found it to be the most wonderful and best remedy for female troubles that I ever have tried, and from now on I shall use no other. Sorry I did not know of your 'Favorite Prescription' years ago, but will gladly tell my friends who are suffering, of your wonderful medicine. I cannot speak too highly of it."

WHAT WOMEN SAY

about the merits of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the best testimonial to its wonderful curative power. There is no claim made for "Favorite Prescription" which is not backed by cures. Every statement made as to what this medicine will do is supported by the living evidence of what it has done. It has made weak women strong and sick women well. It has brought back the roses to faded cheeks and the plumpness to shrunken forms. It has given laughter for tears, and joy in life for utter misery. What "Favorite Prescription" has done it is doing every day.

"A few years ago I suffered severely with female weakness, and had at times dreadful pains," writes Mrs. Mary V. Brown, of Creswell, Harford Co., Md. "I went to my doctor, and he gave me medicine which did me good for a while, but I would get worse again. I had a sick headache nearly all the time; was so weak around my waist could hardly bear anything to touch me. My feet would keep cold and I could hardly do my work. I would work awhile and then lie down awhile; was completely run-down. Suffered from disagreeable discharge and also severe pains at times. After using five bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, three of his 'Golden Medical Discovery' and one vial of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, and following the advice you gave regarding the 'Lotion Tablets,' I can truly say that I am cured."

Sick and ailing women are invited to consult Doctor Pierce, by letter, free. All communications held as sacredly confidential and womanly confidences guarded by strict professional privacy. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

A great many women have gratefully accepted the opportunity of a free consultation by letter with Dr. Pierce, as a welcome escape from the indelicate questionings, the offensive examinations and obnoxious local treatments, thought necessary by some physicians. The modest woman shrinking from these things often lets her disease grow and eat into her life rather than submit to a treatment which offends her delicacy. A letter to Dr. Pierce avoids all these offensive practices.

If you are persuaded that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has cured others, do not allow yourself to be robbed of a cure by accepting some substitute medicine pressed on you by the dealer because it pays him a little more profit.

Bear at Beech.

A large black bear created a great sensation at Beech Sunday, when his bearship entered the orchard of Green Decker to fill his stomach with highpriced apples. Instead of carrying Bibles, tracts, etc., as the custom of the residents of that section on the Sabbath day, shot-guns, Winchesters, and any kind of firearms, were in the hands of the Sunday travelers, and all roads led to Mr. Deckers apple orchard. But the bear is a bear yet, for a' that; he distinguished the difference between good Sunday literature and a hunter's equipment and scampered up over the hills to the mountains, shaking his tail, thus expressing his delight with the surroundings.

BIG RAILROAD DEAL!

Contest for Control of the Northern Pacific Has Been Settled.

MORE COMMUNITY OF INTEREST

A New Organization Known as the Northern Securities Company Has Been Incorporated in New Jersey—The Various Roads Pooled.

PROMINENT MEN AT THE MEETING

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—There were two important developments in the railroad situation in the northwest, and both tended to confirm the existing belief that a final basis of settlement of the contest for the control of Northern Pacific had been definitely agreed to. Final ratification of this agreement will bring into existence the greatest and most effective example of the community of interest idea as applied to the railroad system of the country.

The first of yesterday's developments was the incorporation at Trenton, N. J., of the Northern Securities company with a capital stock of $400,000,000 and the second was the [illegible] of a [illegible] agreement providing for the [illegible] at par [illegible] stock on [illegible]

[illegible] Corse, Steele, representing [illegible] & Co., E. H. Harriman [illegible] syndicate, which is [illegible] Union Pacific; James [illegible] the Great Northern; Samuel [illegible] president of the Pennsylvania; Jas. Stillman, of the National City bank; H. McK. Twombley, for the Vanderbilts, and Wm. Rockefeller.

The directors decided that the funds necessary for the retirement of the preferred stock should be obtained by the sale at not less than par of $75,000,000 of 4 per cent, bonds convertible into common stock, each holder of common stock now outstanding being entitled to purchase at par an amount equal to seventy-five-eightieths of the amount of his present holdings. It was further provided that two dividends of 1 per cent. each be paid on the preferred stock before its retirement.

Samuel Spencer was elected a member of the board in place of Robert Bacon, resigned, and the board organized by re-electing all of the company's present officers.

No official statement was obtainable Wednesday as to the scope of the newly incorporated Northern Securities company, but it was generally understood that the company was formed to take over and control the shares of the Northern Pacific and the Great Northern railways and their leased lines. The Great Northern's outstanding capital is $125,000,000 par value, selling at 200 in the market, while the Northern Pacific's total outstanding stock after the retirement of the preferred, will be $80,000,000 par value, making a total of $205,000,000 par value, for the shares of these two companies. At 200 for Great Northern, the amount would be increased to $330,000,000 for the shares of the two companies.

Burlington shares, it is understood, are not to be turned over to the New Northern Securities company. That stock is now held as collateral for the outstanding Burlington collateral bonds with voting rights vested in the Northern Pacific and the Great Northern railways It is understood that Union Pacific and Chicago and Northwestern interests agreed to the retirement of Northern Pacific preferred, and that the Union Pacific will have a heavy interest in the capital of the new company, considerably beyond the par value of their present Northern Pacific share-holdings, which are placed at $78,000,000 par value—just over a majority of the total $155,000,000 Northern Pacific stock capital. No information was obtainabl as to what share, if any the Vanderbilts and the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul are to have in the new company.

DEATH OF MISS BERNICE MOORE.

The Sad Event Occurred Wednesday Evening at 10:25 O'clock at Her Home in Crider's Exchange.

It is with inexpressible sorrow that we announce today the death of Miss Bernice Moore, daughter of the late John W. Moore, which sad event occurred Wednesday evening at twenty-five minutes past ten at the home of her mother, Mrs. Nannie J. Moore, in Crider's Exchange. A brief mention of her illness was chronicled in our last issue it being the first notice that the general public had of the serious character of Miss Moore's sickness, and the news proved a severe shock to the whole community.

Her death was due to spinal meningitis which had its start from being vaccinated about a week ago. The vaccination brought out the rash all right and she was doing very well when on Monday she was seized with a chill which drove the rash to the brain and caused spinal meningitis resulting in death.

Bernice Moore was born in Bellefonte, January 3, 1873 and was the daughter of John W., and Nannie J Moore. She was a graduate of the Bellefonte High school and proved an apt student. She inherited a natural talent for the Photographic art from her parents who were engaged in the photograph business here for years. She was employed for some time by Shaffer and by Mallory & Taylor at this place and later took a course from the finest artists in Philadelphia and New York. About a year ago she opened up a studio here and has been doing quite a successful business. She was a very beautiful and accomplished young lady and her death is a severe blow to her family and the host of friends and acquaintances.

She is survived by her mother, Mrs. Nannie J. Moore, of Bellefonte; her sister, Miss Aurora, of Philadelphia, and brother Charles C., of Allegheny, Pa.

The funeral took place Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Studio in Crider's Exchange.

The girl is the mother of the woman just as "the boy is the father of the man" The period when the womanly functions begin is one to be carefully watched and considered. Irregularity or derangement at this time may be promptly met and cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. But neglected at this critical period may entail years of future suffering. "Favorite Prescription" acts directly upon the woman y organs giving them perfect vigor and abundant vitality. It removes the obstructions to health and happiness, and delivers womanhood from the cruel bondage of "female weakness"

P. R. R. a Great Advertiser.

The Pennsylvania is said to use more advertising matter than any other railroad in the world. Colonel F. N. Barksdale, advertising agent of the passenger department, gives figures that prove this. Each year 12,000,000 time tables are issued. The largest tables not only find their way to more than 1,200 local agents, but are distributed through Europe from two London agencies and are furnished to the leading hotels and to other systems.

"The paper used in these tables," says Mr. Barksdale, weighs 1,500,000 pounds or 750 tons, enough to make 12½ loads for the ordinary freight car. It would carpet 100,000,000 square feet, which, reduced to larger denominations, makes 2,295 acres or 3½ square miles. If made into a strip one foot wide it would be 18,939 miles long and would girdle the earth 4 8-10 times, or if one inch wide, it would be 217,272 miles long, encircling the earth 57½ times.

Made The Ducks Drunk.

A flock of ducks belonging to Simon Geisel wandered in front of the Coal Exchange hotel, at Hooversdale, a few days ago, and a practical joker enticed them inside the barroom by scattering around crumbled pretzels soaked in brandy. Finally [illegible] lled over upon his back and [illegible] feet toward the ceiling [illegible] a couple of lady [illegible] in the [illegible] began to [illegible] upon the jokers that perhaps their prank would turn out to be costly.

Bromo-seltzer and other jag-savers known to the profession were procured, but the drunken ducks refused to return to sobriety. It was decided that fresh air was what the ducks needed, and the remnants of the flock were hustled out of the place. Two more of them died on the way home.

When Mr. Geisel learned of the affair he handed in a bill at the rate of a dollar per dead duck, and the claim was paid without dispute.

Beauty's Refuge.

The finer or more delicate your complexion, the more it will suffer from the weather for several months now. Just a little lack or a little excess of moisture in the atmosphere, and chapping will result. Those who care little for beauty at least care for comfort, and there is comfort in a smooth, soft skin.

"Judge Love is the recognized leader of the Quay forces in Centre county."—John Hamilton to the Republican county convention, July 30, 1901.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT is going to prove a thorn in the side of the machine politician. He has already served notice, by several important appointments, that he will demand and require high character and fitness in every appointee to a Federal office that comes within the scope of his appointive power. Pennsylvania's United States Senators and their Congressional confederates will have to purge their lists of favorites who have been marked for official preferment. The President says only honest men with brains need apply. What distress and dismay this Presidential injunction will cause in the ranks of the machine's faithful who have 'opes.

WHEN Benjamin Franklin proposed the scheme of starting a newspaper, his friends dissuaded him, saying there was already one paper published in Boston, and that the country would not support another. Today there are 20,879 publications, of which 2,158 are dailies, 14,827 are weeklies: 2,791 are monthlies, and 175 are quarterlies, not to mention the State College Times edited by John Hamilton of Oleo fame with the assistance of Bellefonte's celebrated political triumverate, Judge Love, E. R. Chambers and W. E. Gray and that extraordinary genius "A Former Centre County boy" who dwells within the gates of the city of Brotherly Love.

THE education of the negro race shows remarkable progression A bank started by a colored gentleman in North Carolina has gone to smash just as easy as if it had been operated by white financiers. 'Verily the colored brother catcheth on.

CONDITIONS in Delaware indicate that she is getting restless over the fact that she is the only "senatorless state" of the Union, and yet how infinitely better off is Delaware than Pennsylvania with a Quay and a Penrose.

WHAT did he do with it? We refer to the $1,000 Judge Love received from ex-Governor Hastings to help defray the expenses of his judicial campaign. He never paid it back!

FOLLOWING a statement that the United States army is to be equipped with tooth-carpenters and corn-doctors an exchange remarks that hereafter our martial forces can go at the enemy "teeth and toe-nail."

RECORDER BROWN says he has positive assurances from Governor Stone that he is not to be removed. To those who have an intimate acquaintance with Pennsylvania's Executive it would require something more than his "positive assurance" to carry conviction. Stone is a machine politician of the first order and a creature of its most servile spirit without reservation. this alone is sufficient to eliminate him from that class whose word is as good as another man's bond.

THE PRESIDENT.

President Roosevelt has not been in the Chief Executive chair very long but his incumbency has been of sufficient length to justify some deductions based upon his manner of meeting the obligations and problems of his high office. One of the recent opinions, which indicate that the President's course is being closely followed and has been such as to call forth unstinted praise and inspiring confidence and trust, is that of the Chicago Inter-Ocean, which says:

"In his public position hitherto the President has been on the firing-line of progress. He was compelled to speak boldly and act swiftly in order to serve the State well. But those who observed him attentively long ago discovered that his boldness was never rash, and that his swiftness was never hasty. They saw that his apparently most sudden determinations were the result of careful thought which had fully understood what was to be accomplished and had clearly foreseen every consequence before taking action. Called to the supreme direction of public affairs, the President proves that this judgment of his real character was accurate. He shows himself progressive, but never radical; prudent, but never timid; cautious, but never irresolute. The country knows that his policy and conduct are and will be always bold, but never destructive; always resolute, but never rash; always moving forward, but at the same time steadfast and essentially conservative. Since he has been in office Theodore Roosevelt has dispelled some fears and aroused many well-founded hopes. For his country now sees him as he is—in thought and action always the same, well balanced, patriotic and American."

THE Philadelphia Chapter of the American Institute of Architects in a set of resolutions, passed at a recent meeting, condemned in most vigorous language the plan adopted by the State Capitol Building Commission for the selection of an architect by a competitive contest. The programme arranged by the Commission is merely a blind. The architect has long since been singled out. The competitive feature in the selection is only a scheme to hoodwink the public. That $4,000,000 appropriation for the completion of the capitol building is the richest fruit ever shaken from Mr. Quay's plum tree and none but the machine elect will enjoy its abundant sweets. The members of the Commission have their work of superintendency cut out for them and they were named because they could be relied upon to do the will of the gang without question. The protest of the Philadelphia Chapter of the American Institute of Architects is one of most excellent judgment and is based upon undeniable argument but it will have no effect upon the plan of the Commission, that has been countersigned by the Boss and his allies and will go to serve their individual interests

Taken to Allentown for Trial.

NEW YORK, November 19—John Hanon, the United States Express company messenger who was arrested in Jersey City Saturday on a charge of stealing from the company, was taken to Allentown, Pa., Monday to be tried with Samuel B. Gleason, his alleged accomplice, on a charge of stealing fifteen gold watch cases from the company on a Lehigh Valley train near Allentown.

Simple Cure for Lockjaw.

W. W. Chesney, of Asbury Park, N. J. claims to have cured many cases of lockjaw by this simple remedy. Put the Patient in a bath of warm water and place in the water one pound of mustard. Immerse all except the mouth, nose and eyes. Cover the head with warm cloths, then add hot water until the temperature is 110 degrees, or if the patient can bear it 120 degrees. Keep the patient in until the jaws open, which usually takes about twenty minutes, although some have been in forty minutes.

Not a single failure in this treatment has ever occurred. Mr. Chesney says he has attended all cases without charge.

THE country is prosperous Republican policies and Republican laws have made it so.

UNCLE SAM, RECORD BREAKER.

In both fiscal and calendar years, 1901, Uncle Sam is found not only breaking every other nation's record but breaking his own all along the line. In fact, it is getting quite monotonous, yet it is the kind of monotony we can endure. It may be instructive as well as interesting to note a few instances of the splendid attainments of the United States in this first year of the new century.

For the first time during a twelve month we have passed the $1,500,000,000 line in exports, beating also the British figures. This will probably be high water mark for some time to come, as values are declining.

The year 1901 will be the greatest year American agriculture has ever known, in spite of many short crops. The wheat crop both in quantity and value will surpass any previous record, as will the amount exported, which is expected to reach 300,000,000 bushels out of a total crop of 750,000,000 bushels, valued at $473,000,000.

Cows, cattle, hogs and sheep have reached their highest value, and in the aggregate, their largest number.

The greatest flax crop in our history has been secured, the acreage being nearly treble that of 1896.

The tobacco crop exceeds all records, and the output of cigars is over 6,475,000,000.

Our rapidly growing beet sugar industry has made a great advance, and the United States sugar product this year will exceed all previous outputs.

In manufacturing, in spite of a slight apparent falling off in exports, we are beating all former records. The pig iron output, all structural material, cars, boots and shoes, clothing, silks, paper, oils, forest products, and, in fact, in almost every industry the figures for 1901 will exceed those of any previous year.

In mining the figures for 1901 will also beat all records; in iron ore, coal, copper and other metals, though totals cannot be known yet for some time.

Railroading also is having a record breaking year. In passengers and freight carried, in earnings, in number of employes and in wages paid every former record is broken.

Bank clearings are breaking the record all over the country, showing that we are doing more business than ever before, not only in every community but in the country as a whole.

Our national Treasury was never before in such good condition. The gold in the Treasury on October 31, 1901, $542,822,849, was the highest in the country, while the circulation per capita, $28.50, was also the highest. Our credit is the highest on earth. We are buying bonds, lend-money all over Europe, and piling up a larger surplus than ever, in spite of reduced taxation.

Never before in our history was so large a percentage of our children attending school. Never before were so many of our people employed. Never before did our wage earners receive such high wages individually or collectively. Never before were the necessaries and and comforts and conveniences and luxuries of life as moderate in price compared with income, and never before were the people of the United States so blessed in every material way as they are in this year of our Lord 1901.

The population of the United States according to the last census, is 48 8 female and 51 2 male, so that there are a little more than enough men to go round. No woman, therefore, need become an old maid, but some of the men must remain bachelors or go abroad for a wife. Again if the gentler sex favored by fortune, and who will say that it is not right she should be? The totals are 39,059,242 males and 37,244,145 females.

A Pittsburg despatch intimates that it is the intention of Gov. Stone to appoint Recorder Brown, of that city, to the Superior Court bench, to succeed Judge John I. Mitchell, who, it is stated, will retire because of disability. Rumor has been associating the name of Judge John G. Love, of Bellefonte, with the appointment to this prospective vacancy. It appears there are others.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

From our Regular Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20, 1901.

President Roosevelt has expressed himself as "sincerely hoping that the Hays-Pauncefote treaty will be promptly ratified, that the Canal bill will be passed immediately thereafter and that work may be begun on the Isthmian canal at the earliest possible date," and, by inference, he has indicated that he does not consider the Panama route as requiring further considerations. These views were expressed in a conversation with Representative Hepburne, Chairman of the Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce, and with Representative Sherman of the same Committee. With regard to the Panama route, although Mr. Hepburne has stated that the government "would not accept it as a gift," it must be remembered that at the time of his conversation with the President, it was known that M. Hutin, president of the Panama Company has refused to make a formal proposition to the Isthmian Canal Commission, and it was believed that he was acting in a most unbusinesslike manner. It is now known that M. Hutin has determined to present his proposition directly to the President, believing that it would stand a better chance of fair consideration than it would have if it had been incorporated in the already voluminous report of the Commission. I understand that the Commission will report in favor of the Nicaraguan route, that it will recommend a canal with a bottom width of one hundred and fifty feet and a depth of thirty five feet at mean low water, the estimated cost being about two hundred million dollars.

The reciprocity question is still attracting the greatest interest and the President is aquiring an extensive knowledge of the views of the business men of the country. He stated to Mr. W. O. Smith of Hawaii, a prominent sugar producer that he would not favor any reciprocity arrangement with Cuba that would prove injurious to the interests of American sugar producers, including in the latter term the sugar producers of Louisiana, Hawaii and Porto Rico, and the beet sugar growers of the United States.

The President, as witnessed by many recent utterances, is favorable to reciprocity where it can be effected without injury to American industry, but the conviction is daily gaining strength that he does not propose to perform the duties of Congress and that in his forthcoming message, he will clearly and concisely elaborate the situation and and refer the matter of legislation to Congress.

This opinion, which has been gaining ground for some time, was strongly supported by Mr. Roosevelt's remarks to a delegation headed by some of the most prominent business men of the country, who recently called on him to express their views on the subject of reciprocity, and particularly to urge upon him the careful consideration of the advisability of negotiating with great Britain, a reciprocity treaty covering our trade with Canada. The delegation argued that Canada was the third largest buyer of American products in the world, that she bought more than all South America, Cuba and Mexico combined and that her proximity, her business methods and, in fact, many possibilities of trade with her a reciprocal arrangement most desirable. The President listened very attentively and expressed himself in the most general way as in favor of reciprocity, but urged the members of the delegation to see and talk to members of Congress saying that "all positive action would necessarily be taken by the legislative branch of the government."

Representative Babcock, of Wisconsin, who has been so emphatic in his assertions that he would press his bill revising the tariff schedule on iron and steel products, has made a statement defining his position. He says that where changed conditions have resulted in cheapening the cost of production so that the present rate of tariff is not needed for the protection of labor he would lower the rate until it was only sufficient to make up the difference between the cost of American labor at present wages and the cost of foreign labor. He says the protection policy means protection to American labor and the end and aim of the tariff is the maintenance of the present high wages paid to American workmen, but as soon as the tariff does more than that it becomes a burden on the people. "The question this Congress will be called upon to answer is, will it permit a tariff duty to remain in force to enable a trust to pay dividends on watered stock?, said Mr. Babcock. "The question I have raised will be met and I want it solved by the Republican party."

Representative Boutell, of Illinois and member of the House Committee on Coinage, Weights and Measures, has established himself in Washington for the session. He said on the subject of reciprocity, one evening last week, "As I recollect it, for the fiscal year ending June 30th, 1901 our exports amounted to very nearly $1,500,000,000, while imports were about $900,000,000 so that our exports exceeded our imports by about $600,000 000. Now it does not need argument to show that in order to continue this present rapid rate of expansion of our foreign commerce we must be able to take more of the products of the countries to which our goods are sold. It is simply axiomatic that we cannot continue the present disproportionate ratio between our exports and imports.

"Merit and merit alone will win appointments in our dependencies" were the words in which the President expressed himself to Mr. Clinton R. Woodruff, Chairman of the Committee on Dependencies, of the National Civil Service Refore League. This is quite in accordance with the policy of the President in all of his appointments. He has positively refused to appoint anyone whom he did not believe deserved the appointment from the standpoint of merit.

The tangle in the New York situation was partly unravelled Friday by the appointment of State Senator Nevada N. Stranahan, Collector of the port of New York, to succeed George R. Bidwell, the present incumbent. The appointment seems to meet with the hearty approval of the business men but it has been impossible to get any information as to the attitude of Secretary Gage. It will be remembered that Senator Platt has made the announcement that Mr. Bidwell would remain in the collectorship as long as he remained in the Senate, but he now says that, while he considers Bidwell "the best collector New York has ever had" he approves of Senator Stranahan. "No words are strong enough to describe Mr. Stranahan's fitness for the office" he replied when his opinion of the appointment was requested.

Miss Stone Fares Badly.

WASHINGTON, November 20.—A dispatch from Sofia says that another letter has been received from Miss Ellen M. Stone. Her health has been somewhat affected by her continual confinement and hard fare, but she expresses herself confident of ultimate release.

A letter from Mr. Dickinson, diplomatic agent of the United States at Sofia, replying to his proposals concerning a ransom, says the brigands will hold out for a figure very much above the sum at Mr. Dickinson's command. The brigands interpret Mr. Dickinson's not having fixed on the sum he is willing to pay and on a time limit as being indications that he can get more money. They also demand immunity from prosecution.

Another cablegram from Consul General Dickinson Monday indicates that while Miss Stone has not yet been ransomed there is reason for feeling reassured as to her future. The dispatch furnished evidence that Mr. Dickinson remains in indirect communication with the brigands or their agents.

—Early Friday morning burglars broke into the Kessler hotel, Northumberland, took a small safe, loaded it on a wheelbarrow, carried it to a barn and blew it open. The explosion aroused the neighborhood, but the robbers got away with $150 and three gold watches belonging to guests.

Not the Voice of Mexico.

From the Chicago Record.

One of the clerical organs published in the City of Mexico is attracting some attention by its vicious attacks on the United States in connection with the meetings of the Pan-American conference. This country, it says, is like a monster with "a head of solid gold, breast and arms of burnished silver, stomach and muscles of bronze and feet of the most brittle clay."

The inspiration to this image from the Scripture is the fear of the spread of republican influences, and the Mexican liberals are themselves fully inured to such virulence. For many years their chief political interest was in the fight against clericalism. The clericals were back of the European adventurer, Maximilian. They devoured the land and gave no return in taxes. They united church and temporal tyranny to withstand the growth of civil liberty.

Ultimately they were beaten at every point, and they have continued to growl for reaction ever since, but to a constantly decreasing body of sympathizers. They were utterly shorn of power when Mexico entered upon an era of prosperity and progress. They have no voice in the government and almost no authority among the more intelligent classes of the people. What they say, therefore, in vituperation of this or any other country is not representative and carries no weight. Modern Mexico the Mexico of Diaz, is not jealous of the United States and does not dread the increasing power of the government at Washington. She knows that that power will never be used to encroach upon Mexico's rights and that it is the best bulwark Spanish American can have against the aggression of Europe.

Soldiers are Not Entitled to Bounties for Serving in Wars.

The auditor general's department at Washington, D. C., has issued a circular letter over the signature of E. E. Rittman, denying in most positive terms the sensational story originated by a Brooklyn lawyer to the effect that he had discovered that an old law by which $84 state and 192 federal bounties were due to soldiers who served in the Spanish-American war, whereby it was to cost the states $2,000,000 and the federal government $5,000,000. The allegation is taken piecemeat by the auditor and flaws shown. No such case has been brought before Attorney General Knox, as reported. Furthermore, no law has ever been passed by congress, the letter says, granting any bounties to Spanish-American soldiers. Laws were passed giving extra pay in certain cases in lieu of furlough or leave of absence, and these have all been paid. Regarding bounty due soldiers for the civil war no recent law has been passed. The last general bounty law was enacted April 22, 1872 and nearly all entitled to bounty under its provisions and under previous acts have been paid. The auditor adds in conclusion his regrets at this raising of false hopes and sounds this timely warning against useless inquiries and filing of claims which will be worthless and can only cost the interested persons worry and prove expensive to them.

Bishop Dubs to Live at Harrisburg

Bishop Dubs, the famous head of the United Evangelical church in America, has leased a residence at Green and Harris streets, Harrisburg, and will remove to that city about the first of the year. Harrisburg is already the seat of the publishing interests of the denomination and the removal of the Bishop will make Pennsylvania's capital practically the centre of the church.

—Jerome Thomas, a liveryman at Coalport, is looking for a little black horse and a red-wheeled buggy that was stolen from him. He hired the team to John Thurston on last Monday and nothing has been seen of him since. Thurston is the man who was arrested by the police at Gaysport for stealing a horse and buggy from Liveryman Kyper, of Bellwood, last winter. He was taken to Clearfield, where he was wanted for horse stealing, and sent to jail for some months. He was recently released.

David Green, an old soldier, died at Latrobe on Friday last at the age of 72 years. He is survived by eighteen children.

John Wallace, a horseman residing in New Bloomfield, died suddenly in Cincinnati last Tuesday morning of heart disease.

George B. Cooper, formerly of Blair county, who is charged with a very serious crime in Bedford county, will be tried this week.

William A. Noll, a veteran of the civil war and a resident of Williamsport, died suddenly last Friday evening from an affection of the heart. He was 58 years of age.

Joseph McGough, a well known old bachelor residing at Portage, Cambria county, died last Wednesday night from the infirmities of old age. He was 81 years old.

Mrs. Elizabeth Ann Andrews, one of the oldest residents of Philipsburg, died last Friday afternoon, aged almost 91 years. She is survived by two sons and two daughters.

At the recent session of the Mifflin county court, W. E. Brindle, who pleaded guilty to the charge of cattle stealing, was sentenced to serve six years in the western penitentiary.

Web Flick, an inmate of the Memorial hospital at Johnstown, where he had been under treatment for typhoid fever since August 20, died on Friday evening, at the age of 26 years.

Harry Snell, a well known horse dealer of Bedford, was severely injured by a horse [illegible] days ago. He was so badly injured that he was unable to rise until his son came to his assistance.

Three double frame dwelling houses belonging to the Berwind-White Coal Mining company, and situated in Paint borough, were destroyed by fire last Thursday morning, rendering about forty persons homeless.

George W. Kahney, a resident of Cumberland county committed suicide in Johnstown Saturday morning by hanging himself with a hitching strap in John C. Pender's mule yard. He was about 40 years of age.

William Guy Stiffler, a small boy living in Johnstown, was playing with matches last Tuesday, during the absence of his mother, when he managed to set himself on fire and was fatally burned, dying the following evening.

The boarding house of Joseph Mirino and wife, near the stone quarries at McCance, Ligonier valley, Westmoreland county, was destroyed by fire Friday morning and an infant child of the couple perished in the flames.

The Rev. Amos S. Baldwin, pastor of Trinity Methodist Episcopal church, Lock Haven, has returned from an extended trip to Tennessee, where he went for the benefit of health, and occupied his pulpit at both services Sunday.

W. W. Blair, a carpenter employed on the Park building at Ebensburg, fell from the scaffold to the ground the other day, sustaining painful injuries. If his descent had not been broken by the cross pieces connecting the scaffolding with the building he would probably have been killed.

The little son of W. G. Livingston, of Blairsville, was awakened late Thursday night by a choking sensation and discovered that his room was full of smoke. He aroused his parents, who found a mysterious fire blazing away in a clothespress in the room. It was extinguished and the damage was slight.

Near Milton Saturday morning William Shaffer, driver of a milk wagon, had an adventure which will not soon fade from his mind. One of his horses became unmanageable and dashed over the abutment of a bridge, the wagon alighting on its side twenty-five feet below. The driver was pinned under the milk cans, while the lantern which he carried to light his way ignited the straw in the wagon and threatened to burn him to death. A passer-by extinguished the flames and eventually Shaffer was rescued. He was painfully burned but will recover. About 250 quarts of milk were lost.

Mr. A. B. Steel of North Spring St. says: "I have never had a bad back since I used Doan's Kidney Pills in 1896 I procured them at that time from F. Potts Green's drug store and used them, but I have never had any occasion to use them since. I was so bad with lumbago or soreness across my kidneys that I had to play off work, I was hurt at a barn raising some years ago by a heavy timber swinging and striking me in the back. After that whenever I took cold it always affected my kidneys. This was the case for years but Doan's Kidney Pills finished all that suffering. I can speak as highly of this valuable preparation now as I did then.'

HIS NOSE WAS SAFE.

But His Nerves Were In a State of Cold Chill Collapse.

"I was sitting on the veranda of a far western hotel one afternoon," said the Boston drummer, "and was lazily smoking one of the nicest meerschaum pipes you ever saw when out of the tail of my eye I saw that a native down at the other end of the veranda had his gun sighted at me. They were a wild lot around there, and I couldn't tell whether he meant to shoot me or the pipe. The chances were in favor of the pipe, however, and it seemed a good chance to test my nerve. I made up my mind to let him shoot and to pretend a careless air, but I'm telling you in the ten or fifteen seconds of waiting the sweat came out at every pore and my heart pounded my ribs sore. I felt a sort of tick at the bowl of the pipe, heard the crack of the gun and knew that the bullet had passed through the pipe. I got a brace with my hands and feet and waited for a second bullet, and it went through the bowl after the first. I sat there until his fourth bullet had hit the pipe and knocked the bowl off the stem, and then the shooter sauntered up to me and laughingly said:

"'Excuse me, stranger, but I thought it was imitation.'

"'Same as you are,' I replied.

"My gibe hurt him, but he was man enough to tell everybody about my nerve, and the boys chipped in sufficient nuggets to buy me this fifty dollar smoker. Say, do you know what happened to me when I made an excuse to go up stairs after my old corncob? I had no sooner got into my room than my knees gave out, chills galloped up my spine, and I'll be hanged if I didn't faint away and lie there for ten minutes. It had suddenly occurred to me that the bowl of that pipe was only six inches from my nose while the fellow was doing his shooting, and I have not yet got over touching my nasal organ now and then to see if it is safe."

INDIAN PRAIRIE DOG HUNTS

The Little Animals Are Deemed a Dainty Dish by the Navajoes.

The Navajo Indian, while he cannot be prevailed upon to eat a rabbit, is greedily fond of fat prairie dogs. Large communities of these small animals abound on the western plains, and the Navajo has resorted to many ingenious methods for trapping his coveted dainty. One of them is by the aid of a bit of mirror placed at the entrance to a burrow. When the animal ventures from his bedroom, deep under ground, he sees a familiar image mocking him at the front door, and he hurries out to confront the impudent intruder, when he is pinned to the ground with an arrow.

But the most effective method is what the Indians call the rain hunt. As soon as the steady downpour of summer rains begin every Navajo who can walk repairs to the prairie dog village with hoes, sharp sticks or any digging implement. With these they hollow out trenches that will lead the storm water into as many burrows as possible. Soon a little stream is pouring down each small home, and the inmate, much disturbed, pops out to see what the matter can be. Many of the animals remain under ground until they are drowned, and their bodies float to the surface.

After such a hunt, in which many pounds of prairie dogs are generally secured, there is a feast for many days in the Navajo huts.—New York Commercial Advertiser.

The Time For Planting Bulbs.

There is no definite rule to be laid down as to the length of time in which bulbs should be left in cold storage. As a general thing, top growth will not begin until root growth is completed. This nearly always takes from six weeks to two months. It is therefore generally safe to begin bringing October planted bulbs to the living room in December. Those desired for later flowering can be left in cold storage, where they will remain dormant as to top growth. By bringing bulbs to light and warmth at intervals of a week or ten days we secure a succession of bloom which makes it possible for us to brighten our windows with their beautiful flowers during the greater part of winter.—New Lippincott.

Magnanimity.

It became necessary for an Emsworth papa to chastise mildly his small son the other evening. Some time later, wishing to negotiate for a favor, the chastised one stated his wishes and as an inducement added:

"Papa!"

"Well, James?"

"If you'll do this, papa, I'll excuse you for that whipping you gave me."—Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

ON THE VERGE OF SUCCESS

The Easy Steward and the Audacious "Grafter."

A man walked into one of the uptown college clubs one morning and sat down in the smoking room. His air of assurance was hardly in accord with his tattered clothes. It was early, and none of the members was about. He rang the bell, and the steward responded.

"It seems good to get back into the club again," he remarked.

"Yes, sir," said the steward.

"I used to be a member here, but I've had hard luck and can't afford it any longer."

"Yes, sir; I'm sorry, sir," said the steward.

"By the way, I'm a little short of car fare this morning," said the nervy stranger. "Could you let me have ten cents until I call here again?"

The surprised steward reached into his pocket and handed out a dime.

"Thank you," said the man. "Now, I'm also a little hungry, having had no breakfast. Do you suppose you could gather me up a little luncheon?"

The steward was stupefied by such a display of nerve.

"And a little whisky with a dash of bitters would not go badly with the food."

The steward fled as one of the members entered. The stranger saw the new arrival and rose hastily.

"I am too early for my friend," he said as he walked toward the door. "I will return later." Then he added in an undertone, which the doorboy heard: "Too bad, too bad! That steward was easy. He'd given me the club if I'd asked for it. It's a wonder those members wouldn't stay away." The man of nerve walked down the street with his head bowed in deep thought. "How to get that luncheon without paying for it" was his theme.—New York Tribune.

CATHERINE II.'S RULES.

The rules, inscribed on a tablet now in the Hermitage, the famous St. Petersburg Museum of Art, are as follows:

I. Leave your rank outside as well as your hat and sword.

II. Leave your right of precedence, your pride and any similar feeling outside the door.

III. Be gay, but do not spoil or gnaw anything.

IV. Sit, stand, walk as you will, without reference to anybody.

V. Talk moderately, not loud, so as not to make the heads or ears of others ache.

VI. Argue without anger and without excitement.

VII. Neither sigh nor yawn, nor make any one feel dull or heavy.

VIII. In all innocent games, whatever one proposes, let all join.

IX. Eat whatever is sweet and savory, but drink with moderation, so that each may find his legs on leaving the room.

X. Tell no tales out of school. Whatever goes in at one ear must go out at the other before leaving the room.

Whoever offends against rule X shall never again be admitted.

Our grande dame will call these rules her Ten Commandments.

The Terrapin Disease.

The terrapin is thought to have much influence in causing sickness, and the terrapin disease is either a rheumatic affliction about the chest and ribs or possibly some pulmonary trouble. The association of the terrapin with diseases in this portion of the body doubtless originates from the fact that the ribs of the terrapin are not free, as in the case of most of the higher animals, but are united into one piece.

An Indian who was ill applied for relief to a shaman and was asked, "Did you not when a boy tie strings to the terrapin's tail and worry the creature?"

The patient admitted that he did.

"Well," said the medicine man, "that is what is the matter. It is the terrapin's turn now, and the terrapin is paying off old scores. You have the terrapin sickness, and all your ribs have grown together and to your breastbone."

The shaman administered the proper remedy prescribed in such cases—I forget what it was—and the man thought he was cured.

Doing His Best.

In the early morning I went to the postoffice in an Alabama town to inquire for mail, but found I was half an hour too early. I was walking away when the colored janitor who was sweeping out called to me and asked:

"Was yo' procrastinatin' around yere arter yo'r mail, sah?"

"Yes, but I see I'm too early."

"Yes, sah, too airly. An' was yo' a stranger in dis town?"

"Yes."

"An' hain't yo' no one to talk to?"

"No."

"Den, sah, if yo' don't keer to eliminate about de street fur half an hour yo' can stop right yere, an' I'll do my best to considerate de reciprocity of de situashun an' make yo' feel to home!"

A Civil Word.

A French king once said: "If a civil word or two will make a man happy, he must be a churl indeed who would not give them to him." If this feeling were acted on, how much happier the world would be! We may say of this kindly temper that it is like lighting another man's candle by one's own, which loses none of its light by what the other gains.

THE WOMAN WHO FAINTED.

A Lesson on Courtesy In a Crowded London Theater.

Here is an example of the courtesy and good feeling of the twentieth century. How are we to account for it? The worst of it is that in such a case the innocent suffer for the guilty. When a woman does really faint, there will be some hesitation before she receives a seat, consolation and brandy.

In an overcrowded pit of one of the London theaters the other night a lady, who was standing, suddenly became very faint, and another lady sitting near kindly offered her her seat. Not only this, but, seeing that she did not recover quickly, she went and fetched some restoratives from the refreshment room, whereupon the lady quickly recovered and began to thoroughly enter into the spirit of the play, apparently quite oblivious of her benefactress.

As time went on she was asked by her benefactress if she would object to her sitting down again. But the other would none of it. "Now I have a seat I mean to keep it!" she replied. Whereupon her benefactress gently reminded her that she had paid for her seat and thought that she had every right to return to it. But no amount of talking would apparently move the former.

A gentleman sitting near, having watched the episode, leaned forward and said, "Do you intend to give up your seat?" "No," was the reply. Up he sprang and gently lifted her out of it. An onlooker said to a lady next to her, "I like that man." "Thank you," was the reply; "he is my husband."

There seems to be no limit to the resources used by some people to secure what they have not paid for. The lady was no more faint than any one else in the audience.—London Free Lance.

The Necessity of Salt.

Although in treatises on dietetics salt figures as a condiment, it is universally recognized to be something more; indeed it is an indispensable element of the food of man and animals. A well known authority asserts, says The Medical Press and Circular, that whenever the annual consumption of salt falls below twenty pounds per head of population the public health is likely to suffer. The deprivation of salt does not produce a definite disease, but reduces the vitality of the organism as a whole, so that the victims of administrative measures which restrict the consumption of salt more readily fall prey to prevailing epidemics, as well as to endemic maladies.

WEAR OF THE EARTH

HOW THE FACE OF OUR GLOBE IS CONTINUALLY CHANGING.

Geological Agents That Are Always Busy In Nature's Great Workshop. Where Man Has Comparatively Little Influence.

The atmosphere plays its part in geological operations. Its corroding power, backed by rain and wind, helps to decay and disintegrate those rocks which are exposed to its influence. Rain completes the work thus begun. Wind blows dust, sand and volcanic ashes over large tracts of earth—in fact, over the whole of it.

It is only of late years that geologists have discovered that fine volcanic dust is carried over the whole of the earth's surface and plays a very important part in the deep sea deposits. On deserts and nearly rainless regions blown sand will wear away the hardest rocks by beating against them. Some sandstone formations appear to have been piled up by winds.

Winds cause ocean currents, waves and storms. The great denuding power of the sea is largely due to the atmosphere. Some parts of the English coasts are being rapidly washed away. Plants and animals have their distribution considerably affected by winds and ocean currents. Again, whether living in water or on land, animals live on the oxygen supplied from the atmosphere, and land plants absorb carbonic acid from the same source.

Rain acts in two ways: (1) chemically by dissolving certain substances, such as lime, out of the rocks, and (2) mechanically by wearing down their surfaces as it flows over them. Any old building—a ruined castle or cathedral, for instance—shows a "weathered" surface resulting from the action of rain and wind. In sandstone structures the details of carving are often lost, and on old tombstones the lettering can hardly be deciphered. Springs are due to rainwater collecting in rocks and rising to the surface. Rivers are fed by rains and springs.

A river is a very powerful geological agent. In the hardest rocks rivers gradually carve out a valley or gorge. This is accomplished partly by chemically dissolving certain mineral substances, but chiefly by mechanical erosion, the stones, sand and mud wearing away the bed of a stream as they run and tumble over it.

The finest examples of river action are the famous canyons of Colorado, which in some places are gorges 5,000 or even 6,000 feet deep, with vertical sides. But, as already pointed out, rivers have a constructive action quite as important as their destructive action. By bringing down their burden of sediment into lakes, estuaries and seas they build up great piles of rock and "sow the dust of continents to be."

Glaciers are rivers of ice fed by the "eternal snows" of high mountain ranges such as the Alps. They wear out their own valleys as rivers do; they transport mud, sand and stones to great distances, in some cases sending them sealed up in icebergs to float far out to sea and on melting deposit their burdens on the sea floor. Off the coast of Newfoundland northern icebergs are depositing a great mass of "glacial drift."

The sea is a great denuding agent; but its work is more constructive than destructive. It is the workshop where nearly all the stratified rocks have been accumulated and ranged in layers or strata. The rivers and ocean currents continually bring in fresh supplies of debris even for hundreds of miles.

Man, compared with the lower animals, produces but little effect as a geological agent. Still the human race has considerably modified the distribution of plants by cutting down forests and by cultivating certain plants to supply food. So with animals. Certain useful species have been cultivated and enormously increased at the expense of others which prove useless or harmful.

But plants and animals have had, and still have, far more influence geologically. Coal seams are made up of vegetable remains of former periods. Forests have an important influence on climate and on animal as well as plant life. In the comparatively unknown world of the ocean marine plants doubtless have important functions.

Marine animals accomplish a vast amount of geological constructive work. Great deposits thousands of feet thick owe their existence to small calcareous creatures living in the sea. Coral reefs afford the most familiar illustration.

The force known as heat is of great importance. The earth is hotter below the surface and probably has a very high temperature toward its center. In some places not very far below its surface it contains highly heated rock, which occasionally flows over the surface during volcanic eruptions. In other places we find hot springs in connection with volcanic action.

Heat exercises a powerful influence on rocks deeply buried below the earth's surface, chiefly by means of heated water and steam. In this way rocks have been very much altered or "metamorphosed." The crystalline schists have thus been brought to their present state by a series of chemical changes due to heat, and there is no doubt that they were once ordinary deposits of clay, sand, etc.—Hutchinson's "Autobiography of the Earth;" the Appleton Company.

A BUDDING HUMORIST.

Merry Memories of a First Meeting With Artemus Ward.

On going into the Cleveland Plain Dealer editorial rooms one morning I saw a new man, who was introduced to me as Mr. Browne.

He was young, cheerful in manner, tall and slender, not quite up to date in style of dress, yet by no means shabby. His hair was flaxen and very straight; his nose, the prominent feature of his face, was Romanesque—quite violently so—and with a leaning to the left. His eyes were blue gray, with a twinkle in them; his mouth seemed so given to a merry laugh, so much in motion, that it was difficult to describe.

It seemed as though bubbling in him was a lot of happiness which he made no effort to conceal or hold back. When we were introduced, he was sitting at his table writing. He gave his leg a smart slap, arose, shook hands with me and said he was glad to meet me. I believed him, for he looked glad all the time. You could not look at him but he would laugh. He laughed as he sat at his table writing. When he had written a thing which pleased him, he would slap his leg and laugh.

I noticed that George Hoyt and James Brokenshire at their tables were pleased with his merriment and indulged in broad smiles. As I bade him and the others good morning he said, "Come again, me liege." I thanked him, said I would and went my way, thinking what a funny fellow he was.

Within a month thereafter appeared in the columns of The Plain Dealer a funny letter signed "Artemus Ward." The writer said he was in the show business, had a trained kangaroo, "a most amoosin' little cuss," some "snaix" and a collection of wax figures, which he called a "great moral show." As he was coming to Cleveland to exhibit, he made a proposition to the proprietor that they "scratch each other's backs"—the publisher to write up the show vigorously and the showman to have the handbills printed at his office and give him free tickets for all his family. So I found my young friend of the gurgle and hay colored hair to be an embryo humorist just bursting into bloom. Artemus, as from that time he was best known, soon had a city full of friends, myself and family among them.—James F. Ryder in Century Magazine.

FLOWER AND TREE.

Never buy a plant in bloom.

Never water plants in flower from above.

In planting out an orchard do not plant more than can be manured and cared for well.

A yard or lawn always looks barren without some choice ornamental trees and shrubs. On this account every lawn should contain a few choice specimens of these ornamental trees.

Scale insects on plants, such as the oleanders, the fragrant olive, roses, etc., are among the most difficult pests to overcome. A mixture of white hellebore powder with dissolved soap rubbed in is a good remedy.

Keeping all young trees carefully staked leads to the formation of clean, straight stems. These in their turn are conducive to the growth of large, healthy, fruitful heads. One stout stake should be placed by each tree when it is planted.

Crocus must be planted in October to insure spring blooms. It makes a fine appearance if thickly planted upon a lawn. Make a cut with a spade three or four inches deep in the sod, tuck in a couple of bulbs and press the sod back into place with the foot.

Habits of Seals.

The habits of seals are very interesting. The very young seal is helpless in the water until he is taught by his mother to swim. She takes him into the water daily on her fin and dumps him in, and when he gets tired of floundering about places him on her fin again and returns to her camp. When the young seals are well grown, they suddenly disappear with their mothers and the bull seals. No one knows where they go, and their return is equally as sudden as their departure. The bulls are the first to put in an appearance at the camping ground. When they arrive, they commence at once to prepare a camp for their mates, which they stake off, and for which they fight until they die. In the meantime the female seals remain quite a distance from land, floating lazily on the water and seemingly having a good time.

Bound to Sound Their "H."

The English middle classes have had so much fun poked at them for dropping the letter "h" and for carrying it forward and placing it where it should not be, possibly thus to obey the laws of compensation, that they have become sensitive on the subject, and many aspirate the "h" with double force when the letter should be aspirated. Instead of saying "before him," as Americans do, with a light aspiration, they will say "before him," taking a full and deep breath when they utter the second word, shooting it out as if it came from a popgun. Dropping the "h" is not new for ordinary English folk. It is a new trick to aspirate it with double the force required.—New York Commercial Advertiser

Oyster Shells.

One thousand bushels of shucked oysters leave about 1,100 bushels of shells, which accumulate in great heaps about the shucking houses. The oyster shells landed on the shores of Maryland during the last ninety years have been reckoned at 12,000,000 tons—a quantity twice sufficient to overload and sink every sailing vessel, steam vessel, barge and canalboat in America.

A FISHING FICTION.

THE "MAGIC EYE" OF THE SAULT STE. MARIE INDIANS.

An Old Guide's Explanation of the Indian Whitefish Hunter's Method of Getting His Glistening Catch From Under the Rapids.

"The first time I fished in the Sault Ste. Marie rapids," said a well known Lake Keuka sportsman, "I landed in an hour twenty-one brook trout that weighed forty-five pounds; so I was ready and willing to believe anything I heard or read about the possibilities of those waters or the astounding things that men who fished in them were able to do.

"Consequently I believed what they told me about the marvelous feats the Indian fishermen of the Sault Ste. Marie could perform in the way of netting whitefish. Few who have toured the great lakes have not heard of those same feats, witnessed them and, of course, could do nothing but go away believing that they were all they seemed to be.

"Particularly will they marvel, as I did, at the Indian whitefish fisherman's magic eye with which he seems to look down through ten feet or more of foaming, rushing water and see whitefish that to the white man's eye would be invisible five inches beneath the surface. It would have been strange if I had not marveled at it, having witnessed more than once manifestations of its alleged power. That was before I talked with old Guide Garron.

"The astounding feats of the Indian whitefish netters of the Sault Ste. Marie that the guidebooks and the hotel keepers and steamboatmen insist on telling tourists about are performed by two Indians in a canoe. One occupies the stern and manipulates the paddle to keep the canoe's head pointed up stream. The Indian in the bow, standing upright, uses a pole to aid in propelling the canoe or in keeping it steady.

"Lying ready to his hand is a dip net four feet in diameter, fastened to the end of a pole perhaps fifteen feet long. The fishing is done at the foot of the rapids, where the water boils and tumbles furiously. With his pole the Indian in the bow keeps the boat moving about in the rapids and gazes constantly into the water, which is often ten feet or more deep.

"Suddenly the Indian in the bow will seize the net handle with one hand, never ceasing to manipulate the canoe with his pole in the other nor for an instant removing his staring gaze from the water. The net is not more than in his hand before he has plunged it perhaps ten feet distant from the boat, thrusting it at the same instant to the bottom. Then he gives it a peculiar twist, draws it up and, surrendering the care of the canoe for the moment to the Indian with the paddle, he draws the net up, never without from three to half a dozen glistening whitefish in it, frequently weighing five pounds each.

"The wondering spectator, seeing nothing but the boiling water, the sudden start of the Indian and his quick and dexterous plunging and drawing up of the net with its invariable load of whitefish, can do nothing but acknowledge to himself the necromancy of the Indian's piscatorial art. I know that I did, and for two seasons gave myself away to the fascination of that mysterious fishing. Then one day I marveled at it greatly to Guide Garron, the shrewd and cunning old Frenchman who knows every rock and eddy and whirlpool of the rapids and all the wiles and tricks that any other guide knows and a whole lot that no other one does know, and Garron's little black eyes twinkled.

"'Ah!' he chuckled. 'Zat mageeck bye. He von gr-r-rand homboag!'

"Then he explained in his voluble and picturesque patois the apparent mystery of the Indian whitefish fisherman's magic eye. Whitefish are natural denizens of the still, silent waters of the great lakes. To get from Lake Huron to Lake Superior these fish must fight their way up the fierce and stubborn Sault Ste. Marie rapids. In doing this they travel by easy stages. They can brave the rapids but a short distance at a time, when, almost exhausted, they drop into the shelter of the friendly rocks that pile the bottom of the rapids.

"Huddled sometimes by the score behind these rocks, getting wind, as it were, to overcome another stage of their journey, the whitefish, if the water is not too deep, can be lifted out by the hand of the fisherman, they are so nearly exhausted. The Indians as well as the white fishermen know this and, knowing well the location of these sheltering rocks, have only to thrust their nets down behind them and draw them up filled with fish.

"The cunning of the Indian led him long ago to give visitors the impression that he could penetrate the troubled depths of the rapids with his gaze and discover the whitefish on the bottom. The wonder of it spread, and it has been one of the fondest and best paying fictions of 'Susan Mary,' as the natives give you the pronunciation of the Sault Ste. Marie."—New York Times.

An Anecdote of Genius.

The following anecdote of Leigh Hunt was once related by "Orion" Horne. Horne on a bitterly cold day in winter went to see Hunt, and found him in a large room with a wide, old fashioned fireplace. He had dragged his piano on to the hearth, close to a large fire, leaving only room for himself and his chair, and was playing with the greatest enjoyment.

"My dear fellow," cried Horne, "are you aware that you are ruining your piano forever and ever in that heat?"

"I know—I know," murmured Hunt, "but it is delicious."

THE WAY OF A TORNADO.

One That Was Remarkable Both In Appearance and Action.

"A tornado that was remarkable both in appearance and in action was one that traveled from Texas across Oklahoma and Indian Territory in May, 1896," says Earl W. Mayo in Ainslee's. "A man in Sherman, Okla., who had exceptional opportunities for observing the storm, inasmuch as he was caught up in it and carried several hundred yards before descending to earth again, is certain that it was not funnel shaped. He says of it:

"'It looked to me like a great ball of vapor rolling over and over toward me. When I first saw it distinctly, it was at a hill perhaps an eighth of a mile away. It seemed to be about 250 yards wide and 100 feet high. The motion was that of a ball rolling over and over, not spiral, and it came on rather slowly, perhaps thirty miles an hour. Whatever the ball of cloud struck was lifted right off the ground.

"'I saw it pick up house after house between the hill and me, and the cloud seemed to be full of flying boards and timbers. When the ball reached Mrs. C.'s, the house nearest me, it went straight up off its foundations. The house remained intact until it was about twenty or twenty-five feet from the ground, then it burst open and the fragments flew in all directions. It looked like an exploding bomb. The corn and cotton standing a hundred feet on either side of the storm's path were uninjured, but whenever the cloud struck the higher ground it spread out, covering a wider strip of the surface.

"'When the cloud struck me, I went up lightly and easily and the sensation was not unpleasant, but I came down hard and was badly shaken up, although not seriously injured. On the highest north of Sherman fence wires were torn from the posts and pounded into the surface of the road a distance of [illegible] or three inches.'"

Nerve Slavery.

It is present-day conditions—heaping burdens of work upon the nervous system that tells the story—premature breaking up of health.

It tells why so many men and women, who so far as age in years is concerned, should be in the prime of health, find themselves letting go of the strength, the power, the vitality they once possessed. It is because that great motor power of the body, nerve force, is impaired. Every organ depends upon its controlling power just as much as the engine depends upon the steam to put it into action. An engine won't go without steam. Neither will the heart, the brain, the liver, the kidneys, the stomach act right without their proper nerve force supply. Let any organ be lacking for this essential and troubles begin—some of them are:

Throbbing, palpitating heart.
Sleepless nights.
Sudden startings.
Morning languor.
Brain fag.
Inability to work or think.
Exhaustion on exertion.
Flagging appetite.
Digestion slow.
Food heavy.
Easily excited, nervous, irritable.
Strength fails.
Loss of flesh and muscular power.
Settled melancholia.
Utter despondency.

A picture, hideous, but easily changed to one of brightness by use of Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills. They build up the nerves and supply nerve force.

The above is the genuine package of Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills, are sold by dealers or Dr. A. W. Chase Medicine Company. Buffalo, N. Y. Price 50 cents.

PICKED UP.

HUNDREDS OF PEOPLE VOLUNTEER EVIDENCE THAT DISPELS DOUBT.

The colums of this paper are day by day publishing fresh evidence from people which establishes more fully the great reputation of Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills. The manner in which they take hold of the run down and debilitated is so prompt, strength and energy is so quickly picked up by their use, evidence is plentiful.

C. L. Scheid, of No. 118 E. Church St., Lock Haven, Pa., says: "I was feeling run down and poorly last fall as the result of a hard summer's work. I did not rest well and bothered a good deal with dull headaches. I got a box of A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills and though I used less than one box I felt they did me a great deal of good, toning up and invigorating me. I can recommend them."

By calling at Krumrine's drug store information can be obtained regarding this great success of Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills and how they were first introduced by proof of their merit.

Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills are sold at 50c a box at dealers or Dr. A. W. Chase Medicine Co., Buffalo, N. Y. See that portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M. D., are on every package.

"Hullo."

W'en you see a man in woe,
Walk right up and say, "Hullo!"
Say, "Hullo!" "How d' ye do"
"How's the world a-usin' you?"
Slap the fellow on his back,
Bring your han' down with a whack!
Waltz right up an' don't go slow,
Grin an' shake, an' say "Hullo!"
Is he clothed in rags? O sho!"
Walk right up an' say "Hullo!"
Rags are but a cotton roll
Jest for wrappin' up a soul;
An' a soul is worth a true,
Hale, an' hearty "How d'ye do!"
Don't wait for the crowd to go,
Walk right up an' say "Hullo!"
W'en big vessels meet, they say,
They saloot an' sail away.
Jest the same as you an' me—
Lonesome ships upon a sea;
Each one sailing his own jog
For a port beyond the fog.
Let yer speakin-trumpet blow
Lift yer horn an' cry, "Hullo!"
Say "Hullo!" an' "How d'ye do,"
Other folks are good as you.
W'en yer leave yer house of clay.
Wanderin' in the far-away,
W'en you travel through the strange
Country t' other side the range,
Then the souls you've cheered will know
Who you be, an' say "Hullo!"

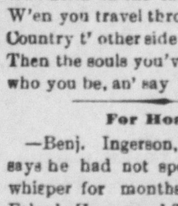
Wagoning around the World.

M. E. Leaslie. with his wife and five children, passed through Milton Thursday in a house wagon. He said he is on his way around the world. He left Seattle, Wash., March 22, 1894, according to his story, and since that time has traveled 12,900 miles. One daughter has been married and a boy and girl were born on his journey.

Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased.



Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also pamphlet telling all about it, including many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers cured. In writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure and mention this paper.

Hon. Seth T. Foresman Sued for Assault.

Before Alderman Savage at Williamsport Tuesday night, George K. Landers lodged information charging Select Councilman Seth T. Foresman, one of Williamsport's most prominent citizens, with assault.

While Landers was serving as postmaster at Newberry several years ago, Mr. Foresman, who was one of Landers' bondsmen, remonstrated with Landers because of the alleged irregularities in the latter's conduct. Landers produced a revolver, and in the struggle for it which ensued Mr. Foresman was shot. Landers served two years in the penitentiary for the shooting, which was the sensation of the hour.

He recently returned from the south, where he was engaged in farming. Meeting Foresman Tuesday, he demanded the revolver with which the shooting was done. Following Foresman to the door of his house, he claims that Foresman pushed him off the veranda, badly injuring him.

Christmas Boxes.

An order has been issued by the War Department authorizing the forwarding from San Francisco to Manila of Christmas boxes and reading matter which may be delivered there for officers and soldiers in the Philippines.

Boxes should be consigned to Major O. F. Long, general superintendent of the transportation service, San Francisco, Cal. The name of the officer or soldier for whom the box is intended, with his regiment, should be plainly marked; also the notation "Christmas Box."

These boxes should contain no perishable matter; should not exceed 25 pounds in weight, and express must be paid to San Francisco. The transport "Crook" will sail from New York December 1 and will also carry Christmas boxes.

Eagle Forge Relighted.

The Eagle Forge at Roland was blown in Wednesday afternoon.

The forge was relighted after an idleness of 21 years and if the experimental work they are doing now proves a success it will be operated permanently, along with the Eagle furnace, that has been running so successfully since it was lighted some time ago.

They are making charcoal blooms that they hope will come up to specifications that will secure a large contract for them. If it is secured it will mean work for many more men about Roland and under such conditions we are sure that all will join in our wish for success for the experiment.

OUR FOREIGN TRADE.

Senator McLaurin Makes a Notable Speech at Atlanta.

DAWN OF A DAY OF PROGRESS

Commerce Has Become a Proper Subject for Governmental Consideration and Will Continue to Grow in Importance.

FAVORS AN AMERICAN MARINE

ATLANTA, Ga., November 15.—At a banquet of the Southern Cotton Spinners' association here last night, Hon. Hoke Smith, of Atlanta, spoke on "Development of Our Home Talent." and United States Senator John McLaurin on "Our Foreign Trade." Mr. McLaurin said:

"We are at the dawning of a new day of progress in the history of the world, when all peoples will have a more perfect understanding of the brotherhood of man and the importance of nations. For two thousand years the policies of the world have been conducted upon the inhuman idea of shedding blood. This has served a useful purpose in the civilization of mankind, awful as it is to contemplate; but that purpose has now been accomplished. Until very recently commerce was not deemed a proper subject for governmental consideration. There is no direct department of commerce in any government except that of Germany. The moving considerations prompting the settlement of the Chinese trouble were commercial. The time will come when the best minds of every country will be called upon to adjust the complicated questions of foreign trade and the consular offices at the leading ports of commerce will equal in importance the diplomatic ambassadors."

In connection with this extension of the south's foreign trade Senator McLaurin advocated an American merchant marine.

"Our weakness upon the sea is the one great danger that confronts the nation," said the senator. "If ships could be built in the United States as cheaply and operated under our flag as cheaply as they are under other flags, it would be unnecessary for our government to do more than to offset the subsidies, bounties, naval reserve, retainers and other methods by which foreign governments attract merchant ships, and guarded by their own people. We must not imagine that American capital is dependent upon national legislation to make ship owning pay. We have ample evidence of large American investments in foreign built ships, manned and operated by foreigners, in our foreign trade. However much our people may have invested in foreign ships, they are unavailable under international law, when at war, as naval auxiliaries.

"Another thing we should remember: the very ships and men employed on board of them may be turned against the United States in the event of our becoming involved in war with the nation whose flag they fly.

"The object of extending government aid to the upbuilding of our merchant marine is to secure adequate protection for the nation upon the sea and the mere fact that the investment has been made attractive to American capital is an incident of the transaction."

"We do not want to see the Isthmian canal become merely a foreign highway of commerce," said the senator. "We do not want our millions expended merely to become a bounty to foreign shipping. It should be an American highway and we should so develop our merchant marine that with the opening of this great canal our own flag shall predominate at the masthead of a majority of the ships that it accommodates."

Heart Disease Relieved in 30 Minutes.

Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart gives perfect relief in all cases of organic or sympathetic heart disease in 30 minutes and speedily effects a cure. It is a peerless remedy for palpitation, shortness of breath, smothering spells, pain in left side, and all symptoms of a diseased heart. One dose convinces.—42

—Andrew Carnegie's gift of hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of steel stock to faithful employes is philanthropy of an unusual character. Mr. Carnegie gives this valuable stock to his employes because he appreciates their loyalty to his interests, and the men concerned appreciated his generosity goes without saying. If this spirit by Mr. Carnegie becomes contagious among large employers there will be an end of strikes and a solution of the labor problem.

For Over Fifty Years.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup has been used for over fifty years by millions of mothers for their children while teething with perfect success. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cure wind colic, and is the best remedy for diarrhoea. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Sold by all druggists in all parts of the world. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup" and take no other kind.

HANDICAPPED.

The man who started to run a race in chains and fetters would be visibly handicapped. No one would expect him to succeed. The man who runs the race of life when his digestive and nutritive organs are diseased is equally handicapped. In the one case his strength is overweighted, in the other it is undermined. Success demands above all else a sound stomach.

Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. When this is done food is perfectly digested and assimilated and the body receives strength in the only way in which strength can be given—by the nutrition derived from digested and assimilated food.

"The praise I would like to give your 'Golden Medical Discovery' I cannot utter in words or describe with pen," writes James B. Ambrose, Esq., of 1205½ Mifflin Street, Huntingdon, Pa. "I was taken with what our physicians here said was indigestion. I doctored with the best around here and found no relief. I wrote to you and you sent me a question blank to fill out, and I did so, and you then advised me to use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I took three bottles and I felt so good that I stopped, being cured. I have no symptoms of gastric trouble or indigestion now."

Accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery." There is nothing "just as good."

Government Need Not Pay $109,000 to Bethlehem Steel Company.

WASHINGTON, November 15.—Mr. Tracewell, the comptroller of the treasury, has rendered a decision in the case of the claim of the Bethlehem Steel company for compensation for two twelve-inch sea coast steel guns; amounting to $109,000. This company is the successor of the Bethlehem Iron company, and received from the latter a transfer of its property, including a contract for 100 sea coast guns. The two guns just completed are in part performance of that contract by the steel company. The comptroller holds that the attempted assignment to the steel company is void under sections 3,477 and 3,437, revised statues, and that the United States is not indebted to the steel company on account of labor and material furnished by it under the contract with the iron company in any way which can be recognized by the accounting officers. The Bethlehem Iron company, having ceased to exist, has made default on the contract, which the secretary of war is authorized to annul. He may, however, it is held, make a new contract with the successor company, wherein payment for the work in question may be provided for, as well as for any new work which may be agreed upon.

Astounding Discovery.

From Coopersville, Mich., comes word of a wonderful discovery of a pleasant tasting liquid that when used before retiring by any one troubled with a bad cough always ensures a good night's rest. "It will soon cure the cough too," writes Mrs. S. Himelburger, "for three generations of our family have used Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption and never found it's equal for Coughs and Colds." It's an unrivaled life-saver when used for desperate lung diseases. Guaranteed bottles 50c and $1.00 at F. Potts Greens Drug Store. Trial bottles free.

A Very Pretty War Play.

"A Rough Riders Romance" played Thursday evening at Garmans Opera House to a very small audience. It was a very pretty war story and was well presented, the play was based upon incidents at Santiago during the Spanish-American war. It brought out the real true American Soldiers, brave spirit and how they could face death bravely if it were necessary for their country. Mr. Chas B. Middleton as Lieut. Jack Ford, was exceptionally fine in his part. Edwin Maynar as Col. Ramon Valpwes, Edmond Norton as Frank Williams correspondent for N. Y. Daily and Miss Sara MacDonald as Anita Mores were all very good in their different parts. The scenery was beautiful, and the music by their orchestra was excellent.

Spreads Like Wildfire.

When things are "the best" they become "the best selling." Abraham Hare, a leading druggists of Belleville, O., writes: "Electric Bitters are the best selling bitters I have handled in 20 years." You know why? Most diseases begin in disorders of stomach, liver, kidneys, bowels, blood and nerves. Electric Bitters tones up the stomach, regulates liver, kidneys and bowels, purifies the blood, strengthens the nerves, hence cures multitudes of maladies. It builds up the entire system. She was an estimable lady and her usefulness in behalf of the local charitable institutions was great.

HOLIDAY BUSINESS.

This Year's Promises to Surpass All Previous Records.

MANUFACTURING WELL SUSTAINED

Conditions of the Iron and Steel Industries Are Unprecedented—Foreign Buyers Have Been Driven Out of These Markets for Corn.

GOOD PRICES PAID FOR WHEAT

NEW YORK, November 16.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade today says:

A healthy demand is reported throughout the country in all leading lines of merchandise, while sales of winter goods have attained normal proportions and holiday business promises to surpassal records. In manufacturing there was never before such well sustained activity, with contracts running past the middle of next year. This is especially true in the case of steel rails and many other products of iron, while in building material, footwear and most textile branches there is little prospect of idleness.

Unprecedented conditions in the iron and steel industry are shown by the statistics of pig iron on November 1, as published by the Iron Age. Furnaces in blast were producing at the rate of 320,824 tons weekly, which far surpasses all previous records. With a production of 10,000 tons weekly above the previous top point it might be expected that supplies would increase, or at least remain stationary. On the contrary, furnace stocks on November 1 were 273,251 tons, or much less than a single week's output, and a decrease of 88,342 for the month of October. Carrying the comparison back a year gives an idea of the marvelous strides made in this industry. Since November, 1900, the weekly capacity of furnaces in blast has increased from 215,304 tons to 320,824 tons, while furnace stocks have declined from 641,466 to 273,251 tons. Yet there has been no inflation of prices, and the speculative element is entirely lacking, a sign that no disastrous collapse is to be feared.

An official report of the lowest average yield of corn per acre was calculated to strengthen prices but the phenomenal quotations already prevailing would seem to fully discount government figures. Foreign buyers have been driven out of these markets, the week's exports from the Atlantic coast amounting to 585,844 bushels, against 3,726,066 a year ago. Wheat rose to the best prices of the crop year, partly in sympathy with corn, for which it is still freely substituted. Interior receipts of 7,390,441 bushels against 4,404,102 last year indicate that an abundant crop is coming forward and the movement would be heavier if transporting facilities were available. Yet the enormous crop would be readily absorbed, judging by the domestic milling demand and exports for the week of 4,539,295 bushels against 3,852,857 a year ago. Cotton recovered from the bottom point of the season though port receipts are heavy.

Failures for the week numbered 215 in the United States against 217 last year and twenty-seven in Canada against thirty-three last year.

Purchased Valuable Land.

John B. Emery, of Williamsport, has purchased a half interest in the five thousand acres of timber land in Clay and Nicholas counties, in West Virginia. The land is in several tracts, surrounded by land owned by ex-Senator Donald J. Cameron. It is along the Elk river and its tributaries, and contains about 20,000,000 feet of poplar and oak. The other half is owned by the Brockerhoff estate, of Bellefonte, and Budd Thompson, of Martha Furnace, Centre county. The land as well as the timber, was purchased. It is surrounded by an extensive coal district, which is being rapidly developed.

Girl Baby Left on a Door Step at Williamsport.

WILLIAMSPORT, Nov. 15.—Thursday morning about 5:30 o'clock, Mrs. William Hoffman, residing at 439 Locust street, found a girl baby on her side porch. The child was about 10 days old, and was crying lustily when Mrs. Hoffman's attention was attracted to it. The baby was wrapped in an old shawl, but had no headgear on and no shoes and stockings. A woman's footprint was seen in the mud near the porch, but that is the only clue as to how the child got there. The overseer of the poor took charge of the infant.

Was Once a Preceptress.

The Centre Reporter says of Miss Anna Cooper, who died at the Home for the Friendless in Williamsport:

"Miss Anna Cooper died at an institution for the infirm at Williamsport and was buried at the Branch, near Boalsburg, Wednesday. Miss Cooper for many years lived at Boalsburg. She was engaged in teaching school, and at one time was preceptress at Pennsylvania State College."

Getting Thin

is all right, if you are too fat; and all wrong, if too thin already.

Fat, enough for your habit, is healthy; a little more, or less, is no great harm. Too fat, consult a doctor; too thin, persistently thin, no matter what cause, take Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil.

There are many causes of getting too thin; they all come under these two heads: over-work and under-digestion.

Stop over-work, if you can; but, whether you can or not, take Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil, to balance yourself with your work. You can't live on it—true—but, by it, you can. There's a limit, however; you'll pay for it

Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil is the readiest cure for "can't eat," unless it comes of your doing no work—you can't long be well and strong, without some sort of activity.

COUNCIL MEETING.

The Borough's Affairs and How They Were Handled by the Borough Fathers Monday Night.

The boro council met Monday evening at 7:30 with President Gerberich presiding and the following members present: Reynolds, Knisely, Garrity, Cunningham and Potter.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved.

S. A. McQuistion complained that the crossing from his corner to the U. B. church is in bad condition and needs repairs. Referred to street committee.

Complaint was also made of a walk along F. P. Blair's property on Willowbank street. Mr. Blair will be notified to repair same in 10 days.

Street committee have repaired iron bridge at Central depot. Various walks have been repaired and streets cleaned in different parts of town. The Central Railroad company's siding from main line to gas works on Lamb street is in bad condition. It is not in use now and Railroad company does not keep it in repair.

The Water committee reported various repairs made at water works. Pumps running 24 hours. Three sewers were flooded at request of school board. People from outside boro are hauling water from town supply. The water meters have been taken and they show a large consumption of water by hotels and livery stables. It would seem to indicate that private houses pay more for water than the hotels in proportion to amount used.

Col. Reynolds moved that the street committee be instructed to find out who the railroad siding on Lamb street belongs to. If to the railroad company they are to be instructed to repair it, if to the boro, street committee is to remove it absolutely within 10 days. This motion was seconded by Garrity and carried.

A property on Reynolds Avenue belonging to W. R. Shope has a bad walk in front of it. He will be notified to repair same within 10 days.

Mr. Garrity stated that the electric light company did not keep their street lights burning until daylight. The company is to be notified to keep lights burning until daylight and also to clean their globes.

Chairman Knisely of the Water committee recommended that a railroad siding be laid into the water works. He stated that the boro has the right of way over the land of the Ardell Lumber Company. It would be a saving of over $500 a year in the large coal bills. The cost of the siding would be about $700,

Extensive repairs will have to be made at the water works in the near future and Mr. Knisely's suggestion was referred back to his committee for investigation and report at next meeting.

The chairman of the Water committee also reported that a bid had been received to furnish coal to the water works for $2.20 per ton which is 15 cents cheaper than the price being paid at present. But the Water Superintendent informs the committee that there is a difference of fifteen cents in the quality of the coal to be furnished. However the committee have ordered a car load at the lower price to give it a trial.

The bill of Col. George A. Bayard for street paving was up for discussion and on recommendation of the street committee an order was drawn for Col. Bayard for $80.83 for work on crossings outside of Diamond. The balance of his bill for work on Diamond etc., was laid on the table.

The following bills were approved and orders drawn:

Board of Health	$ 3.00
McCalmont & Co., fire brick	1.77
Water Pay Roll	90 01
B. B. Pontius 1 mo as clerk	12.85
Street pay Roll	98.09
R. B. Taylor, coal for W. W.	155.34
Col. Geo. A. Bayard	80.83
Police Pay Roll	52.35
	$494.24

Special Term of November Court.

Reported by W. Harrison Walker, Esq.

The special term ofcourt was called Mondaymorning at 10 o'clock with Hon John G. Love, president judge, on the bench.

The forenoon session was taken up in the presentation of motions and petitions by the several members of the bar, after which the Court heard the cases of application for the appointment of guardians under the Act of 1895.

John M. Parker was appointed guardian for Frank R. Holt of Roland, Pa., and W. E. Brown for Augustus Sherwood Fetzer.

On account of the sickness of Senator Wolverton, of Sunbury, who was interested in several cases as counsel, they were continued, and all the jurors discharged. Court adjourned until next Monday morning.

The cases continued are:

Monroe Kulp & Co., incorporated, vs. Nathan Hough. Ejectment. Plea, not guilty.

Emeline Hough vs, Monroe H. Kulp, Gilbert Kulp and D. C. Kaseman, trading as Monroe Kulp & Co. Ejectment, Plea, not guilty.

Nathan Hough vs. Monroe H. Kulp & Co. Ejectment. Plea, not guilty.

—A twelve year old son of Clyde Smeltzer, of Buffalo Run, was thrown from a horse at Hunter's Park Monday morning and quite seriously injured.

SNOWED UNDER.

State College Defeats Lehigh 38 to 0.

The State College football team had an easy thing of it Saturday afternoon against Lehigh at Williamsport, defeating the Bethlehem boys by a score of 38 to nothing. The Lehigh team showed up poorly and was outplayed at every point. State made gains almost at will, while Lehigh was unable to do anything against State's line, which was like a stone wall.

Scholl, Whitworth and Cummings were State's star players, the latter scoring a touchdown in the first half after a sensational run of seventy-six yards. The first half ended with the score of 16 to 0 in State's favor, and in the second half four touchdowns and two goals swelled the score. Line-up:—

State.	Positions.	Lehigh.
Cummings	left end	Dow (Hinckly)
Arbutnot	left tackle	Johnson
Sweet	centre	McFarland
Dodge	right guard	Burrows
Scholl	right tackle	Kelly
Miles	right end	Brush
Hewitt (Capt)	quarter-back	Parsons
Bennett	left half	A. Farrabaugh
Waltworth	right half	Fuller (Capt.)
Smith	full-back	Butler (Dow)

Touchdowns, Scholl 4, Arbutnot, Cummings, Smith. Goals from touchdowns, Smith 3 Referee, Carl Williams, Umpire, Dr. Dunbar, Phoenixville. Timers, Goodall, Backneil and Miller, State. Linesmen, Hindman, Lehigh, and Saunders, State. Time, twenty-five minute halves.

Funeral of Miss Bernice Moore.

The funeral of the late Miss Bernice Moore took place Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. There were short services at the studio of the deceased after which the remains were taken to the Reformed church where the funeral services proper were held. The universal sorrow which prevails in the community over the death of this lovely young lady was fully manifested by the large audience present. The floral tributes received were profuse and beautiful, the casket being fairly covered with lovely flowers.

The services were conducted by Rev. W. P. Shriner D. D., assisted by Dr. William Laurie, both of whom spoke very touchingly of the departed one.

Mrs. Harry Jenkins, Miss Lulu Harper and Messrs. J. C. Meyer and A. Lukenbach composed a quartette that rendered several very beautiful selections. Mrs. M. B. Garman presided at the organ.

The interment took place in the Union cemetery, the pallbearers being Messrs. Jerome Harper, Charles Mench and W. G. Runkle of Bellefonte; John Tonner Harris, of Philipsburg; C. S. Hiltner and W. C. Barr, of Tyrone.

Killed on the Railroad.

Charles B. Quick, whose home is at Milesburg, was killed at Johnstown, Friday noon, while breaking in the yard of the Cambria Iron Company. He was the son of George R. Quick, and was 24 years old having been born near Milesburg March 28, 1877. He was at one time a member of Co. B, 5th Regiment, N. G. P. Besides his parents, the following brothers and one sister survive him, namely, Thomas and Harry, of Milesburg; James, of Indianapolis; William, of Johnstown and Mrs. Grace Lucas, of Altoona.

The remains were taken to his parents home at Milesburg from where the funeral took place Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. J. Zeigler officiating. Interment in the Advent cemetery.

Mrs. Emma E. Wallace Dead.

Mrs. Emma E. Wallace died at her home in Washington, D. C., on Nov. 16. 1901.

Mrs. Wallace was formerly a resident of Lock Haven and a daughter of Edward L. Schulze, a leading citizen and merchant of that city. She was a sister of Mrs. M. W. Jackson and an aunt of Mrs. Wilbur F Reeder of this place. The funeral took place from the Episcopal church at Lock Haven Tuesday afternoon at 2:30.

Big Meeting for Men.

Perhaps one of the largest crowds ever assembled in the Association Hall was present Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock, when ninety men and boys assembled to hear Rev. George Israel Brown, of the Episcopal church, speak on the subject "Truth," which he handled to a great advantage. The singing was exceptionally fine and it is said that on next Sunday a full orchestra will be there to help swell the music.

—The condition of Linn Blackford, is not at all encouraging. It was thought he was getting along nicely until Sunday when the doctor discovered another abcess above where they had operated. It is to be hoped that the young man's leg can be saved.

Hundreds of Millions of cans of Royal Baking Powder have been used in making bread, biscuit and cake, and every housekeeper using it has rested in perfect confidence that her food would be light, sweet, and above all, wholesome. "Royal" is a safeguard against alum, which comes in the cheaply made powders so often pushed upon the unwary purchaser. Caution your grocer never to send you any baking powder other than the "Royal."
